To Invade Europe When Chances Of Success Are Best -- Churchill

—Photos by Stanley Williams

Meeting With Stalin Most Sincere Wish Of Premier, Roosevelt

QUEBEC, Aug. 31.—(CP) — Prime Minister Churchill said today that "nothing is nearer to the wishes of President Roosevelt and myself than to have a three-fold meeting with Marshal Stalin," but he declared that an Allied second front would be opened on the continent only when there was every chance of military success unswayed by political considerations.

The prime minister said he did not blame Russia for any criticism it had levelled at the Allies for not having launched a new offensive in western Europe.

He made it clear, however, that the positive factor of military success was paramount.

"The president and I will persevere in our efforts to meet Marshal Stalin," he said, in a broadcast address.

Foreign Ministers Must Meet

"And in the meantime it seems most necessary and urgent that a conference of the British, United States and Russian foreign ministers or their responsible representatives should be held at some convenient place in order not merely to explore the various important questions connected with the future arrangements for world security, but to carry their discussions to a point where the heads of states and governments may be able to intervene."

The prime minister, refreshed from his labors at the Quebec war council by a week of fishing in the Laurentian mountains, turned again to the question of a second front in Europe, declaring:

"We once had a fine front in France, but it was torn to pieces by the concentrated might of Hitler, and it is easier to have a front pulled down than it is to build it up again."

However, he went on: "I look forward to the day when British and American liberating armies will cross the channel in full force and come to close quarters with the German invaders of France.

Will Attack Only on Sound Plans

"You would certainly not wish me to tell you when that is likely to happen or whether it be near or far, but whenever the great blow is struck you may be sure that it will be because we are satisfied that there is a good prospect of continued success and that our soldiers are expended in accordance with sound military plans and not squandered for political considerations of any kind."

Mr. Churchill said a tripartite meeting among Britain, the United States and Russia "would be of very great advantage to everyone, and indeed to the whole free world, if our unity of thought and decision upon practical measures to the longer future as well as upon strategic problems could be reached between the three great opponents of the Hitlerite tyranny."

Turning to beleaguered Italy, Mr. Churchill said: . . .

"Mussolini has been overthrown. The war impulse of Italy has been destroyed and that unhappy country is paying a terrible penalty for allowing itself to be misled by false and criminal guides. How much easier it is to join bad companions than to shake them!"

Many Nazi Troops Moved to Italy

Mr. Churchill said a large number of German troops had lately been drawn from France "in order to hold down the Italian people" and to make Italy a battleground so as to keep the war as far distant from Germany and as prolonged as possible.

By far the greatest part of the German airforce, he said, had been drained from the Russian front and now is being engaged and "worn down with ever growing intensity night and day by British and American and Canadian airmen."

Mr. Churchill said he was frank to admit that the terrific punishment inflicted on Hitler's war machine in North Africa, Sicily and Europe would have been largely impossible "but for the valiant and magnificent triumphs of the Russian army."

Russians Pay Terrible Price

The Russians, he continued, "have defended their native soil against an evil and unprovoked attack with incomparable vigor, skill and devotion and at a terrific price in Russian blood.

"No government ever formed among men has been capable of surviving injuries so grave and terrible as those inflicted by Hitler upon Russia.

"But under the leadership of Marshal Stalin, and thanks also to the stand made by the British people when they were all alone, and to abundant British and American supplies and

Reds Capture 4 Important German Bases

By PHIL AULT

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Premier Marshal Josef V. Stalin, in two separate orders of the day, announced today that Russian forces had broken into the northern Ukraine in the Sevsk area and in a simultaneous offensive further north had captured the communications centre of Yelna in the Smolensk area.

The second order, coming soon after announcement of the fall of Yelna, said hard-driving Red army troops had taken the towns of Glukhov and Rylsk, respectively 105 and 65 miles west of Kursk.

Capture of Rylsk 40 miles southwest of Sevsk and Glukhov 40 miles southwest of Sevsk gave the advancing Russians control of two more railway points on the southern approaches to the embattled German garrison at Bryansk, 80 miles north of Sevsk.

INTENSIFIED DRIVE

The fall of Yelnya, 45 miles southeast of Smolensk, key to the Nazi defences before Moscow, indicated intensification of the Russian offensive in the Spas Demensk area announced several days ago. Yelnya is 40 miles northwest of Spas Demensk.

The two orders of the day, which are reserved for major Soviet triumphs, came only a day after another order of the day had proclaimed the fall of Taganrog, southern anchor of the German's eastern front line.

Both of today's orders were recorded from the Moscow radio by the Soviet Monitor in London.

Canada Receives $1,750,000 Gift In New Bridge

By STANLEY WILLIAMS
Edmonton Bulletin Staff Reporter

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C., Aug. 31.—The Dominion of Canada Monday received a gift of $1,750,000 in the form of a 2,275 foot steel bridge over the Peace River between Dawson Creek and Fort St. John. Actually the bridge which removes one of the few remaining bottlenecks along the Alaskan Highway, was turned over to the province of British Columbia in dedication ceremonies yesterday, but the new span is of such tremendous value to the country as a whole it would be incorrect to say any province alone will reap benefit from it.

The bridge was turned over to British Columbia by Senator James G. Scrugham of Nevada, chairman of a sub-committee of the U.S. Senate Post Office and Post Roads Committee. Hon. Herbert Anscomb, B.C.'s public works minister, accepted the gift on behalf of Premier John Hart who was unable to attend.

Chinese Relief Drive Extended Until Sept. 6

The period of the Chinese War Relief fund drive has officially been extended to Sept. 6, it was announced today by Harold L. Weir, chairman of the fund for Northern Alberta.

Mr. Weir stated that he had had a telegram from D. H. Clark, executive secretary of the fund in Toronto, notifying him that the central committee had decided an extra week was necessary to give everyone a chance to contribute.

August is the holiday month in Canada" said Mr. Weir, "and a good many people who have been away from their homes during this period will be returning in the next few days. It was felt the fund would not be representative of the good will of the entire community unless this extension were made."

So there is one week more to make your contribution or to add to

New Truck Road Nears Finish West of City

With the completion of a truck road from the western boundary of the Jasper National Park to Blue River, B.C., it is anticipated that trucks from Edmonton to Kamloops may be rolling along the Jasper highway and the Blue River truck road extension before the end of this year, according to J. M. Wardle, Ottawa, director of surveys and engineering, department of mines and resources, who arrived here Tuesday to make an inspection of the Alaska Highway and Dominion government projects under construction in the North West Territories and in British Columbia.

He said that only 12 miles of the truck road remain to be completed, and was extremely hopeful that this work would be accomplished shortly of Japanese labor was maintained on the project.

Mr. Wardle said that 118 miles of the 130-mile truck road from the Jasper Park western boundary to Blue River, B.C., had been constructed by Japanese labor. Drain of this labor to logging and more essential industry has reduced the number available for the construction work. He said that if further curtailment does not take place it will be possible to finish the project this year.

The truck road is 10 to 14 feet wide, and is located for the main part on the permanent route of the

De Marigny Will Face Jury Trial

Copyright, 1943, British United Press

NASSAU, Bahamas, Aug. 31.—Magistrate F. E. Field ordered Count Alfred de Marigny held for jury trial before the Bahamas Supreme Court today on charges that he murdered his father-in-law, Sir Harry Oakes.

De Marigny had been held in Nassau prison since 35 hours after the multi-millionaire's bludgeoned and burned body was found in bed on the morning of July 8.

The preliminary hearing which ended today had brought out the finding of De Marigny's fingerprint in the bedroom in which Oakes was killed; evidence of minute burns on his face and hands; testimony placing him in the vicinity of the Oakes estate shortly before the murder; his failure to produce the shirt he wore on the night of the slaying and establishment that hard feelings existed between Oakes and De Marigny stemming from the latter's marriage to 19-year-old Nancy Oakes against her parents' wishes.

Germans Kill Hundreds of Dane Soldiers

By JACK FLEISCHER
Copyright, 1943, British United Press

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 31.—Nazi occupation forces, seeking ruthlessly to crush resistance in Denmark, were reported today to have killed hundreds of Danish soldiers and to have arrested trade union leaders.

The Danish press service reported the arrest of labor leaders and Swedish observers believed that the action was designed to break the strong Danish labor organizations in order to prevent strikes and other disturbances affecting war production.

It was recalled that the Germans had arrested Norwegian trade union members in the fall of 1941 and had executed some leaders.

TAKE POLICE STATIONS

The Nazis were reported to have taken over all police stations in Copenhagen and to have stationed guards at main railway stations.

At Svendborg alone, 450 Danish civilians and soldiers fell dead and wounded before German guns, a Danish refugee said. The Danish garrison at Jaegersborg, six miles from Copenhagen, turned machine-guns on German armored forces trying to break through anti-tank barriers, knocking out three tanks and eleven armored cars.

Another Danish force at Naestved, 45 miles south of Copenhagen, still was fighting the Germans at a late hour yesterday under orders from their commanders to fire until their last cartridge is gone, the Danish refugee press service said.

MANY DIE IN FLIGHT

Many Danish patriots were believed to have been killed by German warships and planes while trying to escape across the Oresund to Sweden in everything from row boats to minesweepers.

The patrolling Nazi war craft were clearly visible from the Swedish shore.

(A German radio broadcast said the Danish cabinet headed by Premier Eric Scanvenius submitted its resignation to King Christian Sunday after appealing to the nation in a signed statement to keep order. Civil servants were asked to remain at their posts.)

(A Berlin dispatch carried in the Zurich newspaper Died Tat quotes German officials as saying that the occupation of Denmark was due exclusively to "military necessities, since the geographical position of Denmark now renders essential special defence measures.")

COMMUNICATIONS CUT

All communications with the little Danish monarchy — situated on one of the shortest invasion routes to Berlin—still were severed, except for a passengerless ferry line, but reports filtering through to Sweden said that the Danes will not submit to Nazi dictatorship without a final struggle.

Despite a Nazi warning that inciters of strikes would be executed, general strikes were reported to have broken out in Skagen, Hjoerning, Sonby, Aalborg, Viborg, Aarhus, Grenaa, Fredricia and Svendborg.

The German panzer division shifted from Norway was reported to have taken up quarters on Sjaelland, the island on which Copenhagen is situated.

KING PRISONER

King Christian X and the entire royal family were transferred from Sorgenfri castle to Amalienborg castle as prisoners, press reports said, while cabinet members, with few exceptions, were arrested outright or detained under house arrest.

There were unconfirmed rumors that Christian abdicated but Danish and Swedish quarters agreed that this was most improbable.

Ralph P. Bell, Ottawa, controller of aircraft production in Canada, who arrived in Edmonton Tuesday in the course of an inspection of aircraft manufacturing and repair plants in the Dominion.

Aircraft Chief Visiting City On Inspection

Making a tour of aircraft manufacturing and repair plants across the country, Ralph P. Bell, Dominion controller of aircraft production, arrived in Edmonton Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. to inspect the aircraft repair plant here.

He is accompanied by Sir Archibald Rowlands, permanent secretary in charge of aircraft production for the British government; Ben Smith, M.P., parliamentary under secretary for aircraft production and J. P. Bickle, Toronto, formerly associated with Lord Beaverbrook in aircraft production in Britain and now president of Victory Aircraft Company, Toronto, the company producing Lancaster bombers in Canada.

The party arrived on schedule at the Edmonton air port in a R.C.A.F. airplane and immediately went into conference with W. Leigh Brintnell, manager of Aircraft Repair Ltd. Later in the afternoon they left by airplane for Vancouver and other Pacific coast points.

Asked if any extension of the Aircraft Repair Ltd. plant was contemplated Mr. Bell said that it was not probable there would be an extension, and added that no changes were contemplated at the plant.

Senators to Study North Expeditions

SEATTLE, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Two United States senators, members of a senate investigating committee, are en route to Alaska and northern Canada to study American war expenditures in the far north.

Senator Harley Kilgore (Dem., W.Va.) and Homer Ferguson (Rep., Mich.) intend to visit all major military and naval establishments in Alaska.

Kilgor; said yesterday that they plan to see what has been done in improving transportation and to go into Canada to investigate the development of oil supply adjacent to the Alaska Highway.

"This is as much of an inspection trip as it is an investigation," Kilgore said. "Vast sums of the nation's money have been spent in Alaska and it is the business of the Truman Committee to ascertain just how effectively it is being spent."

Rommel to Attend King Boris' Funeral As Hitler's Envoy

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Field Marshal Erw. Rommel has been appointed Hitler's representative at the funeral of King Boris of Bulgaria this week-end, possibly to take over as military boss as well as to mourn, the Daily Mirror said today.

Another London morning newspaper, the News Chronicle, reflected Turkish opinion that a cabinet backed by the Germans might be formed from a Bulgarian military clique. It said two or three German divisions are in Bulgaria to influence political policy.

Woman Charged As Spy Starts Hunger Strike

DETROIT, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Detroit News yesterday said that Mrs. Theresa Behrens, 44, one of four persons arrested last Tuesday on Presidential warrants charging violation of the Wartime Espionage Act, has refused food since Thursday nite. The Federal Bureau of Investigation which made the arrests refused to comment on Mrs. Behrens' condition or even confirm that she had started a hunger strike. Mrs. Behrens was taken to receiving hospital Thursday night.

Trees and Gardens Heavily Damaged In Regina Storm

REGINA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Trees and gardens were damaged, pole lines knocked down and hail stones flooded in a torrential rain and storm here yesterday. A heavy fall of moisture fell in less than 20 minutes, creating flood-deep lakes at downtown street intersections.

The storm covered a wide section of south central Saskatchewan from north of Strasbourg south to Weyburn and east almost to the Manitoba border.

There were no reports of extensive damage from outside points.

In Regina a 60-mile-an-hour wind drove the rain and hail into the ground. Visibility was cut to a half city block at times.

Beta Sigma Phi Has Membership Total 30,000

Beta Sigma Phi, international sorority for business, professional and young married women has a membership of 30,000 young women in Canada, the United States and Hawaii with chapters in all large and many smaller cities in the Dominion from coast to coast, according to Mrs. Melita L. O'Hara, official travel counsellor for Canada and the United States who was in Edmonton Tuesday.

Mrs. O'Hara, is a Canadian newspaper woman, and is visiting chapters of the organization in Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. Previously she visited branches of the organization in Quebec, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, and is now on her way to her home in Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. O'Hara revealed that Beta Sigma Phi has contributed an ambulance, station wagon, two mobile canteens and $2,000,000 in stamps and bonds to the war effort.

Founded 12 years ago in Abilene, Kansas, by Walter W. Ross, the organization is particularly interested in educational, social and service programs in order to develop self expression of young women. Members keep to a five-year cycle, during which they study programs and contests in music and the finer arts.

FIRST TO INTERVIEW

Mrs. O'Hara was the first American newspaper woman to interview the former "Il Duce" of Italy, "Mussolini," she said, "gave me the impression of being a ham actor in the heaviest Italian tradition. The only thing that made it at all impressive was the expensive props he used."

Mrs. O'Hara is the daughter of Brig. L. N. Laurin of Quebec.

Mrs. O'Hara will confer with members of the two chapters here, and will spend several days in the city after which she will proceed to Banff to meet her soldier-husband who is coming from an anti-aircraft station in the Yukon.

Italian Airports Heavily Blasted

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, Aug. 31.—The Allied bombing offensive to crush communications in the wreck airfields throughout the Italian peninsula roared on with attacks on Viterbo and Civitavecchia, both northwest of Rome, a communique announced today.

Civitavecchia, rail centre on the coastal line running northward from the capital, was attacked twice, R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Wellingtons hitting it with 4,000-pound block-busters after dark while fires set by an earlier Marauder attack lighted the skies.

Flying Fortresses that hit Viterbo airfield, 40 miles from Rome, shot down two of 12 enemy fighters that challenged them as they unloaded explosives on the dispersal areas and airport installations.

Wellington bombers who attacked communications on Sardinia reported that they could see the force of bombers hitting Civitavecchia more than 120 miles away.

37 Nippon Planes Bagged in Raid

By C. YATES McDANIEL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Approximately Japanese planes have been destroyed in a new raid on Wewak, New Guinea, where more than 300 enemy aircraft were wrecked in the past week-end, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Lightnings downed 25 out of 60 Zeros in the air and Liberators got at least 12 planes on the ground.

Wewak is on the northeastern New Guinea coast, 350 miles above the land fighting at Salamaua.

In the ground fighting there for the airdrome, American and Australian forces which previously had given ground slightly before Japanese counterattacks repulsed the latest ones, exacting heavy losses on the enemy defenders, today's communique said.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The U.S. war department announced today that American Mustang fighters have sunk a huge Italian liner of the 50,000-ton Conti di Savoia class at her moorings at Bagnara in southern Italy.

The liner was sunk by Lieut. William Westfall of Rusk, Texas, and Lieut. Harry Stone of Savannah, Georgia.

Leaflets Urge People of Rome To Stage Strike

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Leaflets have been distributed in Rome calling on the people to go on a 15-minute strike at 10 a.m. tomorrow, standing silently with arms crossed, Axis Rome radio said today. In a later broadcast the Italian news agency said six Italian anti-Fascist parties had denied they had anything to do with the circulars.

Claim Minor Allied Landing Made in Italy

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The German radio declared today that British troops attempted a minor landing in Italy southeast of Reggio Calabria across from Sicily, but that it was "immediately scotched."

The German broadcast was recorded by Reuters news agency. No details were given. The report was not confirmed by British sources.

Reggio Calabria lies just across the Strait of Messina from Sicily, and a landing to the "southeast" would have been on the bottom of the toe of Italy.

The German reports brought no official comment in London and were viewed with skepticism.

It was felt here that if any landing was made it might have been a small-scale hit-and-run attack against some enemy installation, a reconnaissance penetration or feint to keep the enemy defences on edge and cover activities elsewhere.

Blame Train Crew For Fatal Wreck

By NORINE K. CLARK

WAYLAND, N.Y., Aug. 31.—Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railway officials today blamed the wreck of its New York-Buffalo limited, which killed 27 and injured 80 to 75 persons, on the crew of a freight locomotive "which for some reason" entered onto the main line despite signals to the contrary.

Although the cause of the accident was known, Lackawanna officials said, "the reason would not be known until a formal investigation has been completed."

There was no question of sabotage, a company said.

Twenty-six passengers and F. H. Mericle, the railroad's superintendent of locomotive operations were killed, and 16 of these were still unidentified. The injured numbered 60 to 75, 16 of whom were still in hospitals.

No Canadians were on the list of identified dead and injured.

British Sailors May Do Harvest Work in States

SEATTLE, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A recommendation that British sailors here be permitted to work in Washington state harvests if they wish to do so will be forwarded to Washington, D.C., when the proposal is presented formally to him, District Immigration Director R. F. Bonham said yesterday.

He commented on reports that the requests of such sailors had been turned down, on grounds they are aliens.

He said that to permit British sailors, whether merchant seamen or enlisted men, to work ashore would be contravening immigration regulations, but he will make such a recommendation if the matter is properly presented.

Nazis Now Claim Swedish Fishermen Spying for Allies

By JOHN H. COLBURN

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 31.—(AP)—German propaganda broadcasts charged yesterday that Swedish fishermen were spying for the Allies and criticized the "arrogant and provocative" attitude of the Swedish press as relations between the two countries were further strained.

Swedish fishermen said they would demand naval protection against further possible German attacks.

The spying accusation—quickly labelled as "brazen" and "inexplicable" by Swedish newspapers—followed Germany's flat rejection of Sweden's protest over the Nazi sinking of two fishing boats Aug. 25 off the Danish coast.

miles to the southeast indicated that the Russians may be attempting to collapse German defences on the entire central front while continuing steady advances far to the south.

SMASH DEFENCE LINE

Stalin's second order of the day said Russian forces had smashed through "the strongly fortified defence line of the enemy in the Sevsk area and the impetus of the offensive captured on Aug. 30 the towns of Glukhov and Brisk and penetrated into the northern Ukraine."

As is customary, Stalin commemorated the victory by designating the units which captured the two towns and effected the break-through as: The 70th Guards Red Banner Glukhov Rifle Division; the 220th Glukhov Rifle Division, the 23rd Glukhov Tank Brigade and the 1st Guards Gulkhov Artillery Division.

The 121st Rylsk Rifle Division and the 112th Rylsk Rifle Division, and, for the troops which previously captured Sevsk as part of the same offensive, the 60th Red Banner Sevsk Rifle Division, the 60th Sevsk Rifle Division, the 23rd Sevsk Tank Brigade, the 43rd Sevsk Mechanized Brigade, the 255th Sevsk Independent Tank Regiment, the 68th Sevsk Artillery Brigade the 108th Red Banner Sevsk Artillery Brigade of High Caliber.

The rear of Moscow's defense guns celebrating the victory could be heard in the background of the radio broadcast.

SEALS NARVISON'S FATE

The break-through into the northern Ukraine virtually sealed the fate of the German garrison of Bryansk and Orel to the north, which once had been Adolf Hitler's general headquarters, in the most precarious position since it was seized in the Nazi drive.

The break-through also moved the Soviet armies within field gun range of the vital railroad trunk line between Konotop and Kiev.

Capture of Yelnya, which the Germans once had hailed as the stepping stone to Moscow, knocked out the last strongly fortified Nazi base on the road to Smolensk, and also gave the Russians the opportunity of wiping down the Desna river and further disrupt German communications.

MATERIAL ON HAND

Material for the erection of a bridge to span the Thompson river at Gosnell is on the ground and work on this link will be started immediately.

Mr. Wardle will leave Edmonton Wednesday for an inspection trip over the Alaska Highway to gather first hand information for the mines and resources department. He will make the journey by air and car, and will complete a survey of the road north of Watson Lake. Last year he made a survey of the southern link as far as Watson Lake. On completion of this tour he will proceed to British Columbia to inspect the construction work being done on the military highway between Prince Rupert and Hazelton, B.C. This project is being constructed by the department of national defence.

SURVEY AT WORK

Survey parties are now working in the territory between the Mackenzie River basin and Alaska, and into the Arctic to determine the exact latitude and longitude of designated landmarks. This work is being done to permit more accurate mapping of the territory.

Another survey party is working in the vicinity of the British Columbia-Yukon border of the Alaska highway to determine the exact boundaries of the two territories. This work is being done to facilitate administration problems.

Britons Said Eager To Press Air Blows

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Robert McLean, president of the Associated Press and of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, just back after a month in England and Scotland, said yesterday the British people, confident of victory, are eager to press the Allied air offensive to the fullest lest the Germans develop an effective defence against bombers.

"Unless our American air force in the European theatre is built up to full strength so that we can run the risk of Germany finding the defence tactic or weapon which will deprive us of our present opportunity," he said.

"The fury, the viciousness with which the Nazis are pressing home the attack against Allied bombers demonstrate how badly the bombings are hurting them. The German defenders are fighting with the same intensity as did the British fighters against the Luft'affe in the Battle of Britain. They are acting as if the fate of Germany depends upon them, and quite likely it does."

During Night

Planes Blast Rhine Cities

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(BUP)—The air over the channel was filled with Allied aircraft shortly before dusk tonight as squadrons of bombers and fighter escorts roared out in considerable strength toward the continent.

By E. D. BALL

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavy bombers pounded home a heavy, concentrated attack on the German Rhineland last night and mighty fleets of heavy and medium bombers roared across to the continent today to bring the fourth year of the war to a thunderous close.

The war-busy industrial cities of Muenchen-Gladbach and Rheydt were hammered by the R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. bombers last night, a communique announced, while R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Mosquito bombers raided Duisburg and the Low countries at the same time, ending a two-day lull in the aerial offensive.

Twenty-eight bombers were lost, three of them Canadian.

An almost unbroken procession of raiders began drumming across the coast at daybreak close on the heels of the massive sweep against the sprawling Rhineland industrial area.

It was later announced that American medium bombers escorted by R.A.F. Dominion and Allied Spitfires today raided a German airfield at Lille-Vanderville in France and a power station at Le Havre-Graville, France. American headquarters called the attacks successful. One bomber and one plane from the escort are missing. Preliminary reports showed three enemy fighters were destroyed.

GERMAN STATEMENT

German broadcasts reported 25 night raiders shot down and said Muenchen-Gladbach and Rheydt had been especially hard hit.

The population suffered losses and considerable damage was caused to churches, schools, hospitals, residences and public buildings, the Germans asserted.

Other targets in France and the Low countries were also attacked during the night's operations.

Muenchen-Gladbach and Rheydt are twin cities 18 miles west of Duesseldorf in one of Germany's greatest war factory belts. Both also are important communication links with Hitler's invasion-threatened western defences.

TARGETS OF 8 RAIDS

Duesseldorf itself was last raided by the R.A.F. on July 6 when 43 bombers were lost. Rheydt which has been a target in eight specific raids has large engineering works, textile factories and an airfield. Muenchen-Gladbach is a city of 100,000 population 8 miles due south to the north on the river Niers. It also has large engineering and textile factories, five railway stations and an airdrome.

(Vienna dispatches to Swedish newspapers said residents of that city were panic-stricken after new Allied aerial attacks mounted.

(Refugees from Hamburg who have arrived in Vienna added to the unrest, the dispatches stated, with stories of the devastation caused when that city was all but wiped out.

WARNED TO LEAVE

(Placards tacked up around Vienna warned all persons whose residences in the city were presentled to leave immediately. Persons who had to work in the city were spending their nights in the surrounding countryside, the reports added.)

Wounded

Pte. Thomas Sehlin of Millet who has been reported wounded in action according to word received by his father, Cpl. Henry Sehlin. Pte. Sehlin enlisted in Millet and enlisted in the Loyal Edmonton Regiment in September, 1939, at the age of 18. He went overseas in December of the same year. He has one brother, Sgt. Donald Sehlin, who is serving in the R.C.A.F. The father, Cpl. Henry Sehlin, is a veteran of the last war and is now stationed at No. 2 A.O.S., R.C.A.F. in Edmonton.

Saskatoon Unit Fought in Sicily

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH THE CANADIANS IN SICILY, Aug. 28.—(Delayed)—(CP)—The Saskatoon Light Infantry fought in Sicily with the Canadian 1st Division, it was made known yesterday. It was the first of the new support battalions of the Canadian Army to see action in Sicily.

Previously the name of this regiment could not be used because of security reasons.

Army authorities have also permitted the disclosure that the reconnaissance squadron which operated with the division was from the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards, originally from Ottawa.

Saskatoon Light Infantry groups served with each of the three infantry brigades and two landed with the assault troops at the Pachino peninsula beaches. It is still coming in with the reserve brigade.

Close Con Mine At Yellowknife

TRAIL, B.C., Aug. 31—(CP)—Closing of the Con mine at Yellowknife, N.W.T., was announced here today by S. G. Blaylock, chairman and president of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada, Ltd., bringing to an end all Consolidated's northern gold operations.

Mr. Blaylock's statement said that the shutdown of the Con mine was due mainly to shortage of labor and also to the fact that gold was not required for war purposes.

Old Timer Here D. F. Hughes Dies

Services for David Frank Hughes of Edmonton, who died Monday evening, will be held from Foster and McGarvey funeral chapel Thursday to 3 p.m. Burial will be in the family plot in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Mr. Hughes was born in 1881 in Bristol, Que., and came west in 1902 settling at Coleman. He was there at the time of the Frank Slide. Later he was in Vancouver but in 1914 he settled at Onoway, where he was a general merchant. During the years he was in the town he made many friends and acquaintances.

In 1929 he moved to Edmonton where he remained for four years. Later he settled at Hay Lakes where he was general merchant. In March of 1943 Mr. Hughes returned to Edmonton due to ill health.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. A. P. Hughes of 10513 116 street, a daughter, Mrs. Neil Hughes, city of Edmonton; three sisters, Mrs. Albert Elliott of Copper Cliff, Ont., Mrs. Morley Bruce, of Ottawa, Mrs. J. Gordon, of Chatsville, Que., and one brother, Harry Hughes of Sault St. Marie.

Mr. Hughes was an active member of the Masonic Lodge. In the time he spent in Onoway he organized and was grand master of the Onoway Lodge. The A.F. & A.M. order he was a member of the Royal Arch chapter and a member of the Shrine at Calgary.

Student Call-Up Proposals Placed Before MacNamara

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Proposals for the clarification of the position of 18½-year-old University students, now subject to call for military service, were presented to Arthur MacNamara, director of National Selective Service yesterday by Canadian University heads.

Nature of the proposal was not disclosed. At the conclusion late yesterday of a day-long conference of University representatives with Selective Service officials and representatives of the forces, Dr. Sidney Smith of the University of Manitoba, chairman of the meeting, said no statement would be issued.

"Announcement of the decision will be made by Mr. MacNamara and we have asked that that be done as soon as possible," he said.

New Agreement for Stampede Proposed

CALGARY, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Four major changes in the agreement between the city and the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede Ltd. for rental by the company of the exhibition plant were proposed by Ald. W. G. Southern at council yesterday, and will be considered by the civic legislative committee. The committee was instructed to investigate the proposal and report of the lease and report to council at its next meeting.

Ald. Southern's proposals were 1, payment by the exhibition company of an annual rental of not less than $20,000; 2, an agreement between the city and the Calgary Artificial Ice Rink Ltd. for any future sub-letting of property to that company; 3, collection of taxes on any houses in Victoria Park occupied for domestic purposes; 4, limitation to a five-year period of any lease between the city and the exhibition company.

munitions of all kinds, Russia has not only survived and recovered from these frightful injuries but has inflicted, as no other force in the world could have inflicted, mortal damage in the German army machine."

Fate of Boris Warning to Others

The fate of King Boris of Bulgaria, he pointed out, might serve as a warning to other rulers that "the wages of sin is death."

He expressed extreme confidence in Vice Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, the new Allied commander-in-chief in that theatre.

"Quebec was the very place for the two great powers of the sea and of the air to resolve and shape plans to bring their large and growing army into closer conflict and fiercer grips with the common foe," Mr. Churchill declared in a world broadcast.

In Quebec, the capital and heart of French Canada, he continued, "it is right to think of the French people in their agony, to set on book new measures for their deliverance."

France Will Rise Free, United

"We may be sure that France will rise again, freed, united and independent to stand on guard with others over the generous tolerances and brightening opportunities of the human society we mean to rescue and rebuild."

Any speculation on when the war would end Mr. Churchill described as "vain and unprofitable."

Mr. Churchill completed his address at 1:30 p.m.

Mr. Churchill paid tribute to Prime Minister Mackenzie King as "the experienced statesman who led the Dominion instantly and united it into the war," and said that he had been over "the whole ground of the war" in meetings with the Canadian cabinet and British and Canadian staffs.

He said the contribution which Canada has made to the combined effort of the British Commonwealth and Empire "has deeply touched the heart of the Mother Country and of all other members of our great widespread family of states and races."

LAUDS CANADIAN ARMY

"From the darkest days the Canadian army, growing stronger year by year, has played an indispensable part in guarding our British homeland from invasion," he said. "Now it is fighting with distinction in wider and widening fields."

Through the Empire air training organization Canada had "welcomed the flower of the manhood of Great Britain, of Australia, of New Zealand, to her spacious flying fields and the comradeship with her own gallant sons."

At sea the Dominion "has become in the course of this war an important seafaring nation." Ships manned by "hardy Canadian seamen" guard the Atlantic convoys and "our vital lifeline across the ocean."

PRAISES ARMS AID

Mr. Churchill also paid tribute to Canada's large contribution of munitions valued at not less than $2,000,000,000 and donated by Canada to the common cause.

Speaking of Britain's 20-year treaty with Russia, the prime minister declared, "You may be sure that we British are resolved to do our utmost to make good with all our strength and national steadiness." He continued:

It would not have been suitable for Russia to be represented at this Anglo-American conference, which apart from dealing with the immediate operation of our intermingled and inter-woven armed forces in the Mediterranean and elsewhere, would largely if not mainly be concerned with heating and inflaming the war against the Japanese, with whom the Soviet government has a five-year treaty of non-aggression.

HAVE SOUGHT MEETING

"It would have been an embarrassing invitation for us to send that nothing is nearer to the wishes of President Roosevelt and myself than to have a three-fold meeting with Marshal Stalin.

"If that has not yet taken place, it is certainly not because we have not tried our best or have not been willing to lay aside impediment and undertake further immense journeys for that purpose."

Stalin, said Britain's war leader, cannot at present leave the Russian battlefront where he is directing offensives.

"To judge by the latest news from the Russian battlefronts, Marshal Stalin is certainly not wasting his time."

SALUTE OF EMPIRE

"The entire British Empire sends him our salute on his brilliant summer campaign and on the victories of Orel, Kharkov and Taganrog, by which so much Russian soil has been relieved and so many hundreds of thousands of its invaders wiped out.

"We shall also be very glad to associate Russian representatives with us in the political discussions which arise out of the victories the Anglo-American forces have gained in the Mediterranean," Mr. Churchill said.

"In fact, there is no step which we may take or which may be forced upon us by the unforeseeable course of this war about which we should not wish to consult with our Russian friends and Allies in the fullest confidence and comradeship."

Killed in Action

Pte. Thomas F. Simpson, of the Seaforth Highlanders, Vancouver, has been reported killed in action in Sicily according to word received by his sister, Mrs. W. J. Ward of 10231 78 street. He was 23 years old. Pte. Simpson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Simpsons of Ayershire, Scotland. He came to Edmonton in 1927 and was employed for several years by the Black Diamond Coal mine. He enlisted with the Seaforth Highlanders in 1940 and has been overseas for three years. He was married in March, 1943, and his wife lives in Glasgow, Scotland. Mr. and Mrs. W. Simpson, 11140 50 street, are an aunt and uncle.

vantage to everyone, and indeed to the whole free world, if unity of thought and decision upon practical measures to the longer future as well as upon strategic problems could be reached between the three great opponents of the Hitlerite tyranny."

DESIRABLE FOR SOVIETS

Anyone can see how desirable a second front would be, Mr. Churchill said, and "it is quite natural that the Russians bearing the main weight of the German armies on their front should urge us ceaselessly to undertake this task and should in no way conceal their complaints and even reproaches that we have not done it before now."

"I do not blame them at all for what they say," he said. "They fight so well and they have inflicted such enormous injury upon the military strength of Germany that nothing they could say in honest criticism of our strategy or the part we have so far been able to take in the war would be taken amiss by us or weaken our admiration for their own martial courage and cahievements."

Mr. Churchill termed the united Allied strategy "the best that was open to us in a practical sense. It has been bold and daring and has brought into play against the enemy the maximum effective forces that could have been employed up to the present" in spite of vast ocean stretches, amphibious warfare and the character of the armies.

Poised on its ways at Newport News, Va., is this new aircraft carrier which became the U.S. fleet's second Hornet at the launching and christening ceremony yesterday. It was christened by Mrs. Frank Knox, who sponsored the original Hornet which was lost after five months of stinging the Japs in the South Pacific.

Heavy Air Blows at Tokyo Hint as Carrier Launched

NEW PORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 31.— (AP) — A great name in the history of the United States Navy was reborn yesterday with the launching of the aircraft carrier "Hornet" amid cheers of spectators who a moment later heard Navy Secretary Knox hint broadly at plans for large scale aerial blows against Tokyo.

Last year's bombing of the Rising Sun capital was "only a small sample of far bigger raids to come," Knox said in a speech a moment after his wife sent a bottle of champagne foaming over the bow of the ship which replaces the flat-top of the same name sunk last year in the Santa Cruz islands.

Secretary Knox recalled in his speech that the first carrier Hornet was in for the kill at Midway, covered herself with glory in the Solomons, and that from her flight deck soared the bombers "which pledged, with flaming blasts on Tokyo, America's determination that Pearl Harbor will be avenged."

Labor Demands Representation On War Boards

By MYER NEGRU

QUEBEC, Aug. 31.—(CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, meeting in 57th annual convention, will have before it as first item of business today a resolu ·n callin, on Prime Minister Mackenzie King to give "full representation" to a fully organized labor on government wartime boards "or submit his record to the people of Canada, so that democracy may prevail."

The resolution was moved by the resolutions committee at yesterday afte noon's session.

The Congress recognizes that many ' the boards set up to handle the necessary work of a country engaged in "total war" are necessary and desirable, said the preamble to the resolution, "provided they are representative of the citizens.

CONTROLLED BY BUSINESS

"These boards," it added, "are now controlled entirely by big business, and financial interests, and have nothing in common with the people of Canada."

Organized labor as represented by the Congress has gone on record repeatedly as supporting the government in all-out war effort, the resolution said. Such an effort could be fully accomplished only by receiving the full support of the people.

"And whereas this Congress has repeatedly asked for full repre ntation on all boards and crown companies set up by the government, and this request has received the lip support of the prime minister while his ministers have openly defied him by igno ing his promise to give labor representation, therefore

"Be it resolved that this convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada goes on record as asking Prime Minister Mackenzie King to immediately fulfill the promises made in this respect to organized labor or submit his record to the people of Canada, so that democracy may prevail."

As presented by the committee the motion is a composite of 14 separate resolutions on the subject submitted by various labor groups affiliated with the Congress.

GOVERNMENT, LABOR CO-OPERATION SOUGHT

QUEBEC, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Percy R Bengough, acting president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said in a convention address here yesterday the congress has endeavored to co-operate to the fullest extent with the Dominion government for a 100 per cent war effort, but "I regret to state we have not been entirely successful in that direction."

Mr. Bengough, speaking at the opening session of the congress' 59th annual convention, said some of the problems and some of the disord--such as it is--resulted from boards and crown companies set up by the government in connection with the war effort.

"I feel that some of the boards

City Youth, 17, Held in Theft Of Doctor's Car

REGINA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—A 17-year-old Edmonton youth, John Galbraith, who took a doctor's car at Swift Current and came to Regina with a stethoscope dangling out of his pocket so he would look like a doctor, was arrested by city police Saturday afternoon and returned to Swift Current to face a charge of car theft.

The auto was stolen Thursday and recovered Friday near Belle Plaine. Later Friday, the youth registered at a Regina hotel as "Dr. Galbraith." He was carrying the stethoscope to lend credence to the title.

HAD SOME "SUCCESS"

Police said that, despite his youth, he had carried off his post as a doctor with a certain amount of success. He had sold some of the doctor's instruments to a second-hand store in Regina and later went to a department store and picked out considerable office furniture, police said. His arrest followed his attempt to pay for the furniture with a cheque for $1,250.

According to police, the youth had stolen a car in Alberta and abandoned it at Maple Creek.

Nazi Sailors Riot In Yards at Kiel

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—(CP)—The BBC said yesterday a riot recently "broke out in the Kiel naval yards and the guard houses are full of sailors accused of disobedience, overstaying their leaves or desertion." The BBC quoted the Berne correspondent of the Swedish paper Afton Tidningen. The broadcast was recorded by CBS. "The naval yard was taken over by the police and is now completely deserted," it added.

ACT OF SABOTAGE

"There was Boeing Aircraft and there were the airplane plants in Montreal, which probably was the largest act of sabotage that ever happened in the Dominion during a war period. 39,000 men were locked out when their production was vitally needed for the war."

Mr. Bengough said representatives of industry and finance on government boards had maintained their position by threatening to resign if any change were made in the basis of labor representation.

"Labor was asking for equal representation on the boards, but instead, the basis of representation on crown companies set up by the government is about 110 employers and financial wizards to one labor man."

"Therefore, labor has found it difficult to co-operate," said the acting congress president. "We can best co-operate when the interests of labor are fully recognized by the government."

French Patriots Battling Nazis

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—An Algiers radio broadcast heard by Reuters News Agency said last night that underground reports reaching Algiers from France say bitter fighting is taking place between Germans, armed with machine-guns and mortars, and French patriots at St. Jean de Maurienne in the Savoy Alps.

Other fighting was reported at bay, near the Spanish frontier, where French patriots attacked a German garrison, said the United Nations radio at Algiers in a broadcast recorded by the United States office of war information in New York, and at Montreuil Sur Mer where Frenchmen were said to have attacked the townhall and escaped with stocks of food ration books.

Mediterranean Area Hums With Invasion Activities

By LYNN HEINZERLING

CAIRO, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The eastern shore of the Mediterranean from Egypt to the Turkish border hums with the multiple activities of a great Allied army poised for offensive action.

There is a firm conviction that before long the troops of the United Nations will be swarming across the Mediterranean for assaults on Axis strongholds.

This impression was gained from a two-weeks tour up the coast, with excursions inland into Palestine and Syria and a trip to the British island bastion of Cyprus.

ACTION BELIEVED NEAR

The businesslike military conferences at Quebec convince observers in this area that the day of action is approaching.

There is no unanimity of opinion as to where the blow might fall, although a definite objective is mentioned frequently wherever conversation turns that way. One sun-blackened trooper said he confidently expected to be landing on Italy soon and was happy at the prospect.

A network of airdromes has been constructed at great expense by Britain, both to help supply widespread troop establishments and to provide necessary air cover for operations to come. Speedy Beaufighters are drawn up on magnificent airdromes ready to provide such cover.

The impression gained on this tour was that operations from this theatre can be carefully co-ordinated with future movements of Allied armies at the opposite end of the Mediterranean.

German parachutists have been dropped and it is said a number of Germans dropped to gain information have been arrested in Turkey.

Allied Bombers Hit St. Omer Area

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—The weather-enforced 24-hour lull in the Allied aerial assault from Britain on Axis Europe ended yesterday as R.A.F. and American medium bombers attacked targets near St. Omer in France.

St. Omer is the heart of a Nazi airfield and fortifications system across the channel 50 miles southeast of Dover.

R.C.A.F. Spitfires and Allied fighters escorted the bombers and returned without loss. One medium bomber was missing.

Fighter squadrons were out in force over the Dover, Calais and Boulogne areas.

The Paris radio broadcast a report, not confirmed by any Allied sources, that "enemy planes Sunday night dropped numerous incendiary bombs on a little village in the Somme department."

Canadian-Built Hell-Diver Plane Has First Flight

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—The munitions department announced yesterday the successful flight at Montreal of the first Hell-Diver dive-bomber built by Fairchild Aircraft Ltd. under contract for the United States navy. The 40-minute flight was made by Hon. George Carpt, J. H. Lymburner, chief test pilot for Fairchild. These machines are also being produced by Canadian Car and Foundry Ltd. at Fort William. The first machine from that plant was test-flown about a month ago.

U.S. Traffic Deaths Reported as 11,780 For Seven Months

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Traffic accidents resulted in 11,780 deaths in the United States during the first seven months of 1943, the National Safety Council reported yesterday. The total represented a decrease of 42 per cent from the toll recorded in the corresponding period of 1941 and a decline of 31 per cent from the total for a similar time span in 1942.

To our policyowners

Friendly Souls

Life Insurance Representatives are friendly souls. That is why they have won and held the respect and confidence of 4,000,000 Canadian policyowners.

The more you take your Life Insurance Representative into your confidence, the more helpful he can and will be to you. His advice and experience and that of his Company is always at your service. When your policy becomes due he will be "right on the job" to see that you or your beneficiaries are promptly taken care of.

Representatives of the Confederation Life are men of the highest character and integrity. Planning Life Insurance with policyowners is their life work. Many of them have been at it for over twenty-five years, serving two and three generations of the same family.

The next time our representative calls upon you, give him a friendly reception. You'll find him a real man and a friendly soul besides.

There's a Difference

Canada, Great Britain and the United States have recognized the French Committee of National Liberation as the governing administration for all French territories adhering to its authority and as a trustee only of French interests until a popular French government is formed.

Russia, on the other hand, has recognized the Giraud-de Gaulle committee as the de jure and de facto government of France.

There is a difference, here, and a very serious difference.

By recognizing the French Committee of National Liberation as the legitimate French government, Russia creates a focal point with which to authoritatively negotiate with France.

On the other hand, Canada, Britain and the United States deprive themselves of such an advantage. The best they can do, under the limited recognition they extend, is to negotiate with a body which, by their own definition, has not the full powers of a government.

It is curious and unfortunate that the democracies should have taken this stand, particularly in view of the scrupulous care they have taken to preserve the integrity and authority of the other governments in exile.

Britain, for instance, is hostess to a dozen governments, some of which were formed after the German occupation, and which the British Government deals with as possessing full authority. She has found this method invaluable because it gives her access to the authoritative spokesmen for the countries represented.

The limited recognition afforded the French committee, however, is much more of an embarrassment to the democracies than to the committee itself.

It is one of the major mistakes in our political warfare for which we might have to pay dearly.

V

Safer Driving Needed

More traffic accidents over the past week-end indicate again how urgently Edmonton requires a driver education campaign to put a stop to fast and careless driving.

It was thought that when gasoline rationing reduced the number of cars on streets and highways a greater measure of safety would ensue.

Exactly the opposite seems to have been the case. The reduction in the number of vehicles operating appears to have made many drivers feel that they could employ more speed and exercise less vigilance than before.

The result is that Edmonton has had a toll of traffic accidents that is little less than disgraceful.

As The Edmonton Bulletin has pointed out before, only immediate and ruthless action on the part of the police and magistrates can halt this dangerous tendency.

A bad habit of traffic carelessness that is permitted to exist now will grow into an intolerable situation when the war is over and the normal number of vehicles is back on the streets.

Now is the time for action.

V

Too Many Escapes

There are far too many escapes from the camps in which Canada guards British prisoners of war. In the last few weeks, these breaks have been numerous. And the danger lies, not altogether in the fact that alien enemies are at large, but in the fact that each one of them is a potential saboteur.

These frequent escapes are not due to any carelessness on the part of camp guards nor any lack of vigilance on the part of camp commandants. It is due entirely to the political direction which decrees that the prisoners shall have certain privileges. It is these privileges which are responsible for the escapes.

The most iniquitous privilege granted to prisoners of war in Canada is that of the right to organize and maintain a semblance of self-government within each camp. Each German prisoner use this privilege freely. They even set up a Gestapo organization among their numbers. But the dangerous part of it is that the opportunity to organize, not only permitted, but encouraged, gives them a chance to organize not only for discipline, but for insurrection and escape.

These breaks will probably continue until the present coddling is replaced with a system that approximates that employed in Canadian penitentiaries.

V

Hitler's Europe Crumbles

Not only is Germany herself in such unrest that Hitler has had to name Himmler his chief minister and tacitly place the entire Reich under the government of the Gestapo, but from Denmark to the Balkans, oppressed peoples are making it known that they are ready to strike for freedom.

Nearly all Denmark's military fortifications and supplies are in ruins; anti-Nazi demonstrations are interrupting official state mourning for Czar Boris of Bulgaria; the Germans in France are nervously expecting a popular revolt.

Denmark's revolution is both spectacular and alarming to the Nazis, although it has been placed under some sort of control by sheer weight of German arms. Danish soldiers and sailors are in open rebellion against the invaders and at least 40 Danish warships have either been scuttled or have escaped to friendly ports.

In Sweden, too, the situation is tense. The Nazis have sunk Swedish ships and there is a possibility may shortly express its belief in an early Allied victory by declaring war against Germany.

In Bulgaria, a lively struggle for power appears to be taking place. The new King Simeon is only six years old and various factions are battling for the regency. But the background of all this intrigue is the solid and emphatic demand of the Bulgarian people for peace.

The war was never popular in Bulgaria and it is doubtful if an uncertain or shaky royal regime can prevent the Bulgarians from backing out of it.

This is a picture, today, of the Europe which Hitler, a year ago, called his "impregnable fortress."

That fortress is crumbling. And, in all probability, the first landing of Allied troops on continental European soil will be the signal for even greater and more threatening disturbances.

V

More Action in Asia

No time is being lost in putting into effect the obvious decision of the Quebec conference to step up the war against Japan. It would seem that production has now been increased to a point where major operations are possible in both chief theatres of war.

An expanded American air attack on Japan's China Sea life lines, from Chinese bases, linked with the Burma campaign, but not a direct part of it, is indicated.

Meanwhile, the Japanese having been driven from the Aleutians, there are indications that an air attack, from those far northern bases, may be pushed out against Japan itself.

Southward, the wide-fronted American-Australian offensive has progressed materially. It seems to be shaped ultimately to clear the southern approaches to the China Sea from the Pacific for naval action just as the Burma operations seem designed ultimately to let the British navy back into the China Sea to avenge Singapore and catch the waning Japanese sea power between two powerful fires.

Whatever the specific plans, there seems to be no doubt that the Asiatic theatre of war is destined to see much more action than in the past few months.

It is an indication of how tremendously the power of the Allies has grown in the last year.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1893: 50 Years Ago

Mrs. Isaac Cowie returned from Winnipeg on Friday.

J. P. S. Jephson, barrister of Calgary, is holidaying in Edmonton.

The salmon run in the Fraser is so large that canners are obliged to stop the boats from fishing, being unable to handle the fish offered.

Fifty men were killed in a fight between French and Italian workmen at Argues Mertes, France. Excitement is intense in Italy.

Gabriel Dumont, one of the sub-leaders in the rebellion of 1885, is in Winnipeg.

In the Assembly of Regina Mr. Cayley presented a petition from the town of Calgary asking that the town be incorporated as a city.

1903: 40 Years Ago

W. C. Pratt has sold his music store to H. W. B. Douglas.

Hon. G. H. Bulyea, commissioner of public works for the Territories, is at Edmonton visitor.

Major-General Sir Ian Hamilton is to visit Canada this month.

W. Bearisto, of the Imperial Bank staff at Westaskiwin, has been transferred to Edmonton.

T. J. Cornwall of Cleveland, Ohio, has bought Brewster's foundry and will extend the plant.

J. P. Bell and Richard Forks, B.C., has come to Edmonton to reside.

1913: 30 Years Ago

Montreal: Viscount Haldane is a visitor to this city.

Word was received in the city last night that three men have been swept to their deaths from a scow in the treacherous waters of the Grand Rapids of the Athabasca.

Calgary: Rev. Robert Pearson was knocked down by an automobile and will be in hospital for several weeks.

The laying of operations at the Marlboro cement plant on Saturday was the occasion for an excursion of business men from the city.

1923: 20 Years Ago

Winnipeg: The U.F.M. executive has decided that it is impracticable to organize a wheat pool in time to handle this year's crop.

Toronto: W. E. N. Sinclair was chosen leader of the Liberals in provincial affairs.

Ottawa: Two thousand surplus buffalo will be slaughtered at the Wainwright park this fall.

Calgary: Farm hands are demanding $5 and $6 per day, against $2.50 to $4 which farmers are willing to pay.

Athens: The Greek Government has accepted most of the demands made by Italy on account of the murder of members of the Italian boundary mission along the Albania border.

1933: 10 Years Ago

Washington: A 15 per cent reduction in wheat acreage by farmers joining in the Government's reduction plan was announced by Secretary Wallace. He estimates that this will mean a cut of about 9,000,000 acres and reduce production by 124,000,000 bushels.

Hamilton, Bermuda: Machado, ousted president of Cuba, sailed from this port for Montreal.

London: Britain awaits the outcome of the talks between President Roosevelt and Mr. Montagu Norman of the Bank of England with greater interest than any recent or current happening in the realm of finance. Mr. Norman is a Washington visitor.

The whole question of unemployment relief in the city is to be investigated by a special committee of the council.

Himmler's New Job a Sign of Hitler's Uncertainty

Fuehrer Not Sure of the Support of German People

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

I interrupt a series on American policy to comment upon a highly significant move in Germany—the appointment of Heinrich Himmler as minister of interior.

Himmler supplants Dr. Wilhelm Frick in the ministry which controls the police forces of the Reich. Actually, Himmler has controlled these forces, controlling the Nazi regime. But Frick, a bureaucrat, remained regarded as relatively mild and moderate, as retained in his position as a facade for Himmler. Frick also is to hand the apparatus that, being bureaucratic, with remnants of the previous legality retained in it, is intended to operate with only veiled terror inside Germany itself.

Dorothy Thompson

Himmler's power has been in the organization of the S.S., the Elite Guards, who have been the special armed force of Hitler and the Nazi party. His ambition has not been to run the interior administration of Germany, but to protect the party. When the war began Himmler became openly the head of the police for the occupied countries, where there was no attempt to conceal the fact that the Germans were operating with naked terror. In this position he came into repeated conflicts with the army, especially in the places where the terror was most outrageous, as in Poland. The army had the remnants of some code. Himmler represented the Nazi concept, including the ruthless exterminations of even suspected opposition and the decimation of peoples.

The S.S. has thus been the living embodiment of Nazi ideology—Nordic supremacy, master race, cruelty as a mark of superiority, etc. Actually a physically selected corps, they have been trained to consider themselves biologically the cream of the germanic race, superior to all other peoples and also to all other Germans.

They gave their own lives on this principle—that their blood must be spared for the future of Germanism, which was annihilating that brought them into conflict with the army.

Of all Nazis, Himmler is most unpopular with the German people. This is the reason why his terror, except against Jews, was veiled inside Germany while posted abroad.

Now if Hitler puts Himmler openly in power, with control over the entire inland administration, centrating his activities at home, instead of in the occupied countries —that is because Hitler has something on his hands.

This appointment occurs in the moment when the Germans have lost Kharkov and are reported to evacuate the entire Donets valley. It occurs after the night of the worst air raid on Berlin, following terrible bombings of other German cities. It occurs following the fall of Sicily and at the close of the Quebec conference in which new grandiose military moves have been planned. It occurs a month after the fall of Mussolini in Italy. On the same Tuesday that this report comes we learn that Copenhagen has been occupied by fifty thousand German troops, and Martial law established for unruly Denmark.

The conclusions that one can draw are: The military defeats that Germany has suffered, and new ones in the making. Hitler to reconsider his forced not only in the occupied nation, but in Germany itself. But this situation is far from ripe for the Nazis in the occupied countries, these can be trusted to the army, which will fight for Germany as long as any fighting and suppress national risings.

But in Germany itself, the army is not trustworthy, and neither is the bureaucracy. The Italian army has not been able to quiet the Italian people but has only expressed its sympathy for them. Hitler thinks the time has come when naked terror alone will hold his people in line, is, of course, he is expressing his ancient fear of the people, repealed over and over in the famous knife-thrust in the back" legend, that they, and not the armies, were responsible for the last war. The German nation, from now on, is to be treated as though it were itself an occupied country. For, in a showdown, Hitler always believes in the efficiency of terror.

But the appointment of Himmler indicates not only fear of the German people, but other delimmas. The bombing of German population must have strained the bureaucratic machinery to the breaking point. Bureaucrats like Frick cannot control it. It needs an improviser, like Himmler. A disorganized apparatus offers the chance of distributing aid from top. Every opposition seizes opportunities as they arise. Among the top leaders international politics plays its role. When Roosevelt and Churchill appealed to Italy, Grandi, Ciano and Badoglio saw their chance. When Moscow appealed to Germany, there were certainly similar figures in Germany who saw their chance. It is significant that the Nazi radio, commenting on the Litvinoff affair, said, "The Allies are all united in their national Socialism." This was a departure. They have hitherto said, "against Germany."

Thus the manifesto of free Germans issued from Russia would appear to have had a distinct political effect. The top Nazis are fighting for their heads, not only against enemies abroad but against hatred developing within Germany. If this is pressed home with the most calculated political scruples, we can win the war this year.

Wave of Grumbling Is Sweeping Canada

Public Is Irritated and Restless and Ottawa Is Surprised

By B. T. RICHARDSON

OTTAWA.—From all parts of Canada come reports to Ottawa that a great wave of public grumbling and griping is sweeping the country. Several members of parliament, to whom for President Roosevelt's visit on August 25, agreed that grousing has reached a new pitch. The average citizen on the home front is really feeling sorry for himself these days. Johnny Canuck is experiencing a severe attack of self-pity, and he is pretty mad about it all.

It's a strange manifestation of midsummer madness because, making every allowance for irritations and inconvenience, the Canadian people have enjoyed a greater measure of economic stability than any other belligerent population. But offices and agencies of wartime controls are literally peppered with hot complaints from irate citizens that want to have cuffs back on their trousers, double-breasted cuts in men's fashions again, more fat line, shells for duck-hunting, more beer, and so on. Crank letters are a common thing in the morning mail in Ottawa, but the current deluge of grumbling letters springs from a deep-seated revolution against the controls. Apparently the controls have struck sensitive areas of Canadian living, and the complaining people are giving voice to a loud squack.

Down at the Quebec conference recently Ottawa officials reported that the first signs of serious letdown in the solid civilian front in Britain were making an appearance. People in England want to take a holiday now. They want to travel. They want a change of food. The stubborn little Englishman, who braved the blitz and stood firm while the world wondered how long he could stick it, turns out to be fed up with rations, restricted clothing supplies, shortage of beer, scarcity of tobacco, and the compulsion to stay at home which, even if it is the Englishman's castle, bends to some of the hells after four years without a holiday in the country or at the seaside.

Likewise in Canada, on the eve of the fourth year of hostilities, the role of heroic civilian boldly facing the alarms and shocks of short living is wearing thin. A great deal of bitter, unwarranted grumbling that is rapidly coming to the surface of Canadian politics. Little chance in the immediate future is seen here of relaxing the major wartime controls; the supplies of civilian goods which people want in greater profusion are still shrinking rapidly; the pressure on the price and supply structure has never greater and more crushing. All this adds up to a first-class crisis on the home front in Canada. If the structure of economic stability that has endured in this country so far, survives the next few months it will need a fresh miracle of public support. That, to put it bluntly, is what many people in Ottawa privately believe.

A clean-up example of public grumbling comes to attention in the letters column of the Alberta Free Press recently, where a correspondent wrote that "sporting goods are still sold by a farmer to try to buy .22 shells to shoot crows that are stealing his chickens and eggs—we are told that we have to get them but I still have to see the first one anyone has got." Just to track down this situation, we called on the wartime prices and trade board. The facts are that since March last, five months ago, no shells have been sold to farmers for duck hunting or any other sports purpose. Local ration boards are authorized to issue a limited purpose purchase of small arms ammunition. The shortage of such shells is severe. A farmer would have to have a very good case to obtain a permit. Even then many stores throughout the country are right out of shells and cannot get any more. Ammunition plants in the country are entirely devoted to war production; it is doubtful whether civilian requirements can be filled for many months. Farmers, however, have farm advisers and members, and they are instructed to be strict but to use discretion. No one in Ottawa can decide whether a farmer really needs .22 shells to shoot crows or not, but his local board can consider his position with more reality.

For pests like gophers and ground hogs, farmers are allowed to use poison rather than firearms. Essential users are prison guards, bank messengers on the prairies, trappers and persons in remote areas dependent on game to live. All others must prove necessity. Since the restrictions went on in March, the public demand has increased at least 90 per cent more than the actual use of shells for civilian shooting in 1939. Evidently a great many people want to go out and do some shooting, and they grumble like wildcats because they can get no shells. They grouse and imagine that someone else is getting some and they should have some, too.

The farmer who owns only a small truck feels, with some justice, that he is at a disadvantage compared with the farmer who has a truck and also a passenger auto mobile. The farmer can get plenty of gasoline for his needs in operating his truck, but with a car for personal travelling on the gasoline ration for his truck. The other farmer has a great deal more mobile, has more leeway. A farmer in Ontario was recently fined $50 for using his truck to drive his wife to the district court about how the wartime restrictions on motor vehicle travel cut across the normal life of a farmer. The use of a truck for anything but business purposes is restricted under wartime prices and trade board orders administered by the controller of services. The control of gasoline rations is administered by the old controller of the department of munitions and supply. Both combine to produce not only fuel but also the supply of civilian trucks, rubber tires and repairs.

The question of farmer using his truck to drive to church, to a dance, or to his neighbor's place, as he did before the war, is becoming the battle line of an attack on the controls. It colored the debates of parliament in the recent session.

Ammunition for small arms and the driving of farm trucks are merely two examples of issues on which public grumbling has concentrated. Sectional disputes come into the picture. In Ontario, one hears grousing that Quebec is getting off easier. In Quebec, similarly, the grumblers argue that Ontario is getting the preference. No doubt, both on the prairies and in the maritimes, the same sense of antagonism to other parts of Canada is rising. In British Columbia, as visitors from the west coast report, the grumbling is directed against Ottawa and other parts of Canada.

This fierce resentment has caused astonishment in Ottawa, and the whole situation is believed under review by the cabinet boards and by the cabinet, to determine whether any relief can be given. We hopes are held out that relief is possible at this stage of the war. But obviously neither the controls nor the government can stand up under a universal storm of popular indignation, if it comes to that.

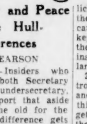

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Russian Policy and Peace Plans Were Hull-Welles Differences

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—Insiders who have talked with both Secretary Hull and his ex-undersecretary, Sumner Welles, report that aside from personal spats of the old type, their basic difference gets down to Soviet Russia and future plans for peace.

Hull long has been anti-Russian. Welles has long argued that we must work with Russia—even though we don't agree with her ideology—if we are to win the peace.

Drew Pearson

Hull climaxed his anti-Russian attitude by placing in charge of his peace-planning group, Leo Pasvolsky, a bitter anti-Soviet.

You don't hear much about Pasvolsky around Washington, but he happens to be one of Mr. Hull's closest advisers. Born in Russia, Pasvolsky was the last secretary to Kerensky's Ambassador to Paris, Bakhmeteff. Pasvolsky formerly edited the Russian Review in New York, later a daily Russian paper called Russkoye Slovo, which was anti-Soviet, and after various research studies, became adviser to Mr. Hull.

When Pasvolsky's plans for a new world bogged down, Welles called a diplomatic maneuver so that the President appointed a larger peace planning group, including John Hopkins, Professor Isaiah Bowman.

But the basic difference between Hull and Welles in dealing with Russia has continued. And that is why it may be futile for Welles to undertake a mission to Moscow with Foreign Minister Eden. For any plan he works out with the Russians would almost certainly meet with vigorous opposition from Hull the minute Welles got home.

Russian Problems

Here are the chief problems which will have to be threshed out with Stalin by whoever goes to Russia:

1. A second front. This was published by Canadians, and Americans, and the Russians blame Churchill because the pledge has not been kept. They think Roosevelt wanted the second front, but that Churchill insisted that it be undertaken largely by American troops.

2. The large number of British troops in Palestine, Mesopotamia and the Near East. The Russians think this is to block them from getting a warm water route through the Gulf of Persia. They say that if the British can spare these troops for the Near East why can't they spare them for a second front?

3. The British have occupied Teheran, the capital of Iran, illegally, say the Russians. The Russians meanwhile have occupied two northern provinces of Iran.

4. The Russians suspect that the British want to keep them fighting another winter so the Red Army will be bled white and will not worry the Allies in the post-war policing of Europe or in fixing its boundaries. The Russians remember all too well the Cliveden Set's proposal to manoeuvre Stalin and Hitler into bleeding each other.

The most important over-all problem is Russian suspicion that Britain is still playing old-fashioned power politics as she did 100 years back. Whereas she once played Germany off against France, it is now suspected that she wants to play Russia off against the United States. This may or may not be true, but it will be one of the things Welles has to erase from the Russian mind.

Note.—Chief report that worries Allied circles is that Germany has given Stalin a promise of the old Russian boundaries before 1914. This is far more than the Allies have talked about giving her—and Stalin knows it.

Hull's Ambitions

When Secretary of State Hull went to the White House to demand the resignation of the man who had served as his chief aide for ten long years, the President replied:

"Why don't you fire him, you're the boss over there."

Mr. Hull mumbled that he didn't feel he was the man to do it, so later in the day, Roosevelt called in Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles and broke the news that he was to be relieved of his post.

What the President probably didn't know was that the major break between Welles and Hull had occurred in 1940 over the question of a third term.

Mr. Hull had been led by Jim Farley to believe that the Democratic ticket in 1940 should be Hull for President, Farley for vice-president. Jim had so convinced the elderly Secretary of State that a combination of the South and Northern Irish vote could not but win, that Hull began to enlist the aid of his friends to this end.

When he approached his Undersecretary of State, however, Welles had told him that he was for a Third Term for Roosevelt. Mr. Hull considered this rank disloyalty. There has been some other differences between him and Welles but this widened the breech beyond repair.

Purge

It is a carefully guarded secret inside the State Department, but the forced ousting of Sumner Welles has been followed by a purge of other liberal diplomats, especially those who sided with ...lely pledged at Casablanca, and ...Loyalist Spain against Franco or showed too much sympathy with Germany.

They are being transferred, or resignations are being requested. Telephones have been tapped, and the evidence so obtained used to convict Sumner Welles or his liberal policies is warned by the Hull-Welles row has the ear of Secretary Hull.

Not since the days of Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State, Coolidge deliberately framed one of its enemies, has there been such a reign of terror over the state department. In Kellogg's day, Wellesbobbying by which certain privileged diplomats were promoting themselves to higher positions, was exposed by a certain consul inside the state department. Soon he found himself confronted by his enemies with a trumped-up sex crime, with faked affidavits, the purpose of which was to end his policing of Europe or in fixing its boundaries. The Russians remember all too well the Cliveden Set's proposal to manoeuvre Stalin and Hitler into bleeding each other.

The "Glorious" House of Savoy

FROM THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN

Carlo Scorza has rashly stated that the history of the eternal glories of Italy is the House of Savoy. This rather minor family among the rulers of Europe does indeed go back to the eleventh century in the person of Umberto Biancamano, or Humbert of the White Hand, while the first Count of Savoy, Amadeus III, dates from the twelfth.

But "eternal glory" is an extravagant term to apply to a family of whom it has been said that as Dukes of Savoy, "their geographical position did not permit them to behave like honest men". Tortuous diplomacy in the eighteenth century added the royal crown of Sardinia to the ducal crowns of Piedmont and Savoy, and they gradually acquired Lombardy, eating it" as was said, "Like an artichoke, leaf by leaf."

The connection of the House of Savoy with the history of England has been singularly unhappy. Of the nieces of Eleanor, Queen of Henry III, Peter of Savoy inhabited the palace in the Strand later known as the Savoy. The King made him Earl of Richmond—but he withdrew in face of the hostility he incurred. On the Continent Peter was known as "Charlemagne the Little", perhaps a measure of his political stature. The Queen's other uncle, Boniface, was appointed Archbishop of Canterbury by the King. He was, says Matthew Paris, "tall and of a handsome figure, but in knowledge morals, and age totally unfit for his office."

He pillaged the churches of Faversham and Rochester and, while holding a visitation of the canons of St. Bartholomew in London, smote the aged sub-prior with his fist about the head and heart, knocked the old man against the sedilia of the choir, and thus killed him. In the tumult provoked the Archbishop was found to be wearing a suit of armour under his episcopal robes. The King suported the Archbishop but owing to the indignation and uproar aroused in the city Boniface was compelled to depart overseas.

Among the people filing into an air-raid shelter was an old man in one hand he carried a long-handled shovel to deal with incendiaries, and under the other arm he had an old-fashioned harp, presumably for entertainment.

"Lumme!" said one shelterer to another, "there's a fellow who's backed himself both ways."

King's English

ABERDEEN BON ACCORD

Dr. Matthews, Bishop of St. Paul's, has occasional streaks of gloom which recall his illustrious predecessor, Dr. Inge, when he looked out through smoked glasses on the mess that man has made of God's beautiful world.

It is not desirable, Dr. Matthews thinks, for the English language to become a universal language, for that would end by at least in part its historic background and empty out of its native virility and grace. That is bad enough, but the Dean said, but it is what he means; and he is probably right. Greek and Latin are spoken today, dead, are, in a sense, merely distant cousins to the language of Plato and Cicero, their evolution and progression, has been effected by social and geographical influences and has kept pace with a constantly changing civilization.

English as a universal tongue would certainly suffer by expatriation; but hitherto it has been able to hold its own fairly well and even to recruit its health by refreshing contacts with crude and literate ...ture of "lesser breeds".

"Do you have Matins at this church?" asked the visitor.

"We used to have," replied the verger, "but the new vicar tripped over them, so we put down a carpet."

Chapter XXVI

The Russian people looked at the news of the invasion of Africa, looked at each other, and wondered what to make of it. It seemed to be good news. Any news that meant their allies were fighting was good news. But it was not the second front in Europe. Perhaps it was only a poor substitute for the second front. On the other hand, perhaps it was a preparation for the second front. They did not know.

Some of their questions were answered five days later when the newspapers published the text of Prime Minister Churchill's November 11 speech to the House of Commons, giving the background of the American landings in French Africa, the British offensive in Egypt, and the second-front problem.

The same papers which had been prodding him now printed his statement that a second front in the summer or autumn of 1942 was impossible, no matter how great the pressure of public opinion. They carried his explanation of the now famous communique about the tasks of creating a second front in 1942: that it had been considered correct to deceive the enemy thus, even though the people of the United Nations themselves were plunged temporarily in doubt, but that the Soviet government itself was not deceived; it knew, as early as June, that the second front could not be promised.

STALIN HAD KNOWN

Later, I learned Stalin himself had known of the Allied plans, down to the very time and place. The troubles immediately preceding the African operations could only mean that, at that time, Stalin was not satisfied. He still wanted a second front in Europe.

That afternoon, after going through the papers at the foreign commissariat, I went back to the hotel and typed a second letter to Stalin on the second front.

I folded up the letter at 6 P.M., and asked George Green to take it over to the Kremlin, "to the same place as before." He looked at the letter and said, 'I get it. And the same three questions. 'That's right,' I said, 'and maybe we'll get the same answers.' 'A hundred to one says you don't,' said George. I was tempted to take him up on that, but let it go by reminding him he would have made the same bet on the previous letter, and sent him off to the Kremlin.

The next night I was sitting over the supper table in Metropole at 10:10 when Palgunov telephoned to come to the Narkomindel right away!

When I reached the press department at 10:30, Palgunov had not arrived. This I recognized as another symptom of a Stalin letter. Palgunov had obviously gone to the Kremlin to get it, and had not yet returned. I sat down to wait in the dimly lit, orange-papered room, under the pictures of Stalin, Molotov, and Kalinin. It was a long wait.

'At midnight, the girl ushered me into his presence. There, on his desk, was the second letter from Stalin.

'Don't tell me you have another document for me' I exclaimed, in mock surprise.

Palgunov grinned: 'You knew why I sent for you?'

'I suspected,' I said, and sat down before his desk.

'Here is a letter from Comrade Stalin, which I hereby transmit to you,' he said, in his most formal tone, and handed it to me.

I ran quickly over the authorized translation. It said:

Dear Mr. Cassidy:

I am answering your questions which reached me on November 12th.

1. What is the Soviet view of the Allied campaign in Africa?

Answer. The Soviet view of this campaign is that it represents an outstanding fact of major importance demonstrating the growing might of the armed forces of the Allies and opening the prospective desegregation of the Italo-German coalition in the nearest future.

The campaign in Africa refutes once more the skeptics who affirm that the Anglo-American leaders are not capable of organizing a serious war campaign. There can be no doubt that nobody but first-rate organizers could carry out such serious war operations as the successful landings in North Africa across the ocean, as the quick occupation of harbors and wide territories from Casablanca to Bougie, and as the smashing of the Italo-German armies in the western desert, being effected so masterly.

2. How effective has this campaign been in relieving pressure on the Soviet Union, and what further aid does the Soviet Union await?

Answer. It is yet too soon to say to what an extent this campaign has been effective in relieving immediate pressure on the Soviet Union. But it may be confidently said that the effect will not be a small one and that a certain relief in pressure on the Soviet Union will result already in the nearest future.

But that is not the only thing that matters. What matters first of all is that, since the campaign in Africa means that the initiative has passed into the hands of our Allies, the campaign changes radically the political and was situation in Europe in favor of the Anti-Soviet-American coalition. That campaign undermines the prestige of Hitlerite Germany as the leading force in the system of Axis Powers and demoralizes Hitler's allies in Europe. That campaign releases France from her state of lethargy, mobilizes the Anti-Hitler forces of France, and provides a basis for building up an Anti-Hitler French army. That campaign creates conditions for putting Italy out of commission and for isolating Hitlerite Germany. Finally, that campaign creates prerequisites for the establishment of the second front in Europe nearer to Germany's vital centres which will be of decisive importance for organizing victory over Hitlerite tyranny.

3. What possibility is there of Soviet offensive power in the east joining the Allies in the west to hasten final victory?

Answer. There need be no doubt that the Red army will fulfill its task with honor, as it has been fulfilling it throughout the war.

With respect

(Signed) J. STALIN

Moscow, Nov. 13, 1942.

From the state of the translation, it was apparent that that was what had delayed Palgunov. This was a complicated document, both in language and in meaning. I noticed it was on the same plain white paper as the first. But on the first letter, I had learned from a photographer who made a picture of it, Stalin's signature was stamped, not signed. This time, I saw, he had written the words, 'With respect, J. Stalin' himself, in a broad blue crayon, much bolder and more emphatic than his stamped signature.

Do you have any questions?' Palgunov asked.

For once I thought I would extract some information from him. 'Yes,' I said, 'I'd like to know how these letters are decided on, how they are written, and how you get them.' His hair, which was always standing on end, rose a few inches more, and he looked aghast. 'Never mind,' I said.

'I must warn you,' said Palgunov, 'that the letter will appear in tomorrow morning's papers.'

'All right,' I said, 'I'll send it right away.'

FELT MUCH HAPPIER

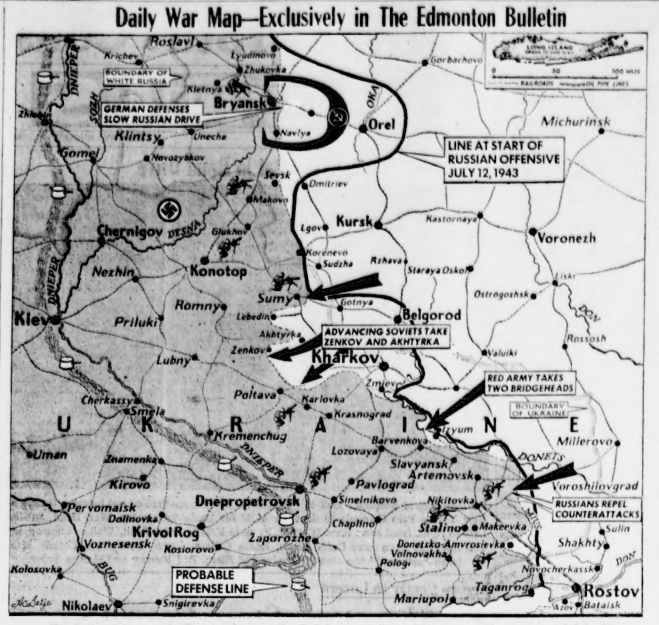

Out in the press room, I went to work. I felt much happier about this job. It had been my own idea, not New York's. I had kept it to myself, delivering it exclusively. An this time it was good news I had to tell. It did not have the sharp reaction the first letter had produced. There were no questions raised in the House of Commons. Just as in the lives of great men, it was a big story when they fell ill and not so big when they recovered, so it was with the story of Allied relations. But it was a great pleasure to report that recovery.

I have called this chapter 'Happy Ending.' Perhaps it should have been 'Happy Beginning,' for establishment of a desire for understanding was only a beginning. Next had to come actual understanding.

California to Get Canadian Wheat If Cars Available

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31.—(CP)—If adequate means of transportation can be found, about 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat will be shipped from Vancouver to California, George McIvor, chairman of the Canadian Wheat Board, said in an interview here yesterday.

"It is all a question of transportation," he said. "American cars, whenever available, are now hauling feed wheat from Alberta to Utah, Wyoming, Washington and Idaho."

Vancouver Officer Wins Military Cross

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Mrs. A. M. Carey of Vancouver said yesterday she had been advised by cable her son, Lieut. Rex Carey of Vancouver, who was wounded while serving in Sicily with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, had been awarded the Military Cross. Details of the award were not given. An outstanding amateur boxer, Lieut. Carey won the middleweight championship of the Canadian Army Overseas in 1941.

GLYPTAL SYNTHETIC PAINTS

BURSTING shells and machine gun fire are not the only enemies of Canada's planes, tanks, ships and guns. Weather is a destroyer, too; rust and corrosion must be guarded against constantly. That's where Glyptal Alkyd Resins help. These specially developed synthetics are produced by Canadian General Electric, and are used by Canada's leading paint manufacturers. Employed as the base in paints, they make possible the production of weather-resisting finishes which save Canada's vital war equipment from attack by heat, corrosives and severe climatic conditions. Glyptal, too, makes paints and varnishes fast drying —it speeds production of war supplies.

MANUFACTURERS OF WAR EQUIPMENT interested in the application of Glyptal to their war production problems are invited to contact their paint supplier or their nearest C.G.E. office.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

IN winning the 150-yard medley in 1 min. 26 1 .5 seconds at the South Side pool on Saturday afternoon, Sgt. John Bishop, AC2. Jack Pomfret and AC2. Ed Cline came perilously close to the Canadian mark of 1:24 2 .5 in addition to shooting the Alberta record of 1:39 to pieces.

It would be interesting to see just what this trio could do in the Dominion swim championships which are being held in Winnipeg the latter part of the week.

The provincial record for the 200-yard relay of 1.46, set by Jim Greer, Tom Kellough, Doug Lemmon and Ed. Donald on Saturday also was made by a West End Swimming club team and the same "Nick" Carter was their coach, too.

It was on Aug. 18, 1939, that the old mark of 1.48 3-5 was established and the quartet was composed of Doug Matheson, now a flight lieutenant in charge of a Spitfire group in England, AC Bob Matheson. at present in India, Jack Flavin with the Canadian Artillery in England and Cedric Ward, still in the city but headed for the R.C.A.F.

LEMMON SHOULD DO WELL

DOUG LEMMON is competing in the Canadian meet in Winnipeg this week and it will be somewhat of a surprise if he does not return with his share of the prize booty.

The west end swimmer was a consistent winner in junior and lately in senior events and has numerous records to his credit. He also added the western Wrigley mile to his holdings this season.

Doug by the way, is 18 years of age, is six feet and three-quarters of an inch in height and weighs 193 pounds. His statistics records further reveal the fact that he has a lung capacity of 330 cubic centimetres.

And just by way of comparison, Cpl. Torchy Peden, now at No. 3 "M" Depot here and whose six-day bicycle exploits won for him the number 1 spot in that phase of world athletic activities has a lung capacity of 360 c.c.'s. Torchy is 6 feet, 2½ inches in height and weighs 212. And don't forget the famous rider will be pedalling in two bike events on the Inter-Service track meet program at Clarke Stadium on Labor Day.

DUCKS ARE PLENTIFUL

HUNTERS fortunate enough to have uncovered a few shells mislaid on some previous occasion should have no trouble in securing a few ducks this fall. Ducks Unlimited refers to "bag limits" but that is much too ambitious a term for most citizens in this area, due to lack of ammunition, even although it may be a reminder of better days to come.

In any event the latest report from the above mentioned organization which has been doing such an admirable work in waterfowl conservation, indicates "more ducks" over 85 per cent. of the breeding range, with estimates of this year's crop at above 125 million.

Alberta surveys also show increases in Hungarian partridge, prairie chickens and pheasants. Perhaps the greater number of birds will make up to some extent for lack of shells, and although greatly curtailed even from the most optimistic viewpoint, hunting in Western Canada may still give a few war-tensed folks some relaxation and recreation—to say nothing of meat without having to wrestle with the coupon problem.

Yankees Take 13th Consecutive Series

SPORT BULLETINS

New Yorkers Have Won 42 Of Last 59

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—(AP)—With Charley Wensloff pitching four-hit ball and Roy (Stormy) Weatherly hitting a two-run homer, New York Yankees turned back Boston Red Sox 3-1 yesterday to capture their 13th consecutive series.

It was the day's only game in the American League.

Wensloff, pitching his 16th complete game in 22 starts, struck out six and walked one to gain his 12th victory with comparative ease. The only run against him came with two out in the fourth inning when Tony Lupien singled and Bobby Doerr doubled.

The Yanks came right back against rookie George Woods with three runs in the next inning.

With one out Frankie Crosetti doubled and then scored on an error as shortstop Skeeter Newsome took Wensloff's grounder and trying to nail Crosetti at third, hit him in the back of the ball which bounded into the Yankee dugout.

Weatherly followed with his third home run in two days and sixth of the season, scoring behind Wensloff.

The big triumph gave the Yankees a record of 42 victories in 59 contests since they started their series streak July 5.

Two New Marks In Grand Circuit

YONKERS, N.Y., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Lew McKinney, six-year-old gelding owned by Sullivan & Mawhinney of Machias, Me., smashed two track records for pacers Monday as another week of grand circuit harness racing got under way at Empire City.

Driven by Frank Safford, the great standard-bred returned in 1:14 for five furlongs and 2:02⅘ for one mile in his two triumphs.

Lew Mawhinney was ahead all the way in the shorter affair to beat Whis by four lengths. The co-holders of the old mark of 1:15. Wolf Tone and Lou Sidney, were in the field.

The winner cut a full second off the mile record and equalled the trot mark hung by Volo Song and Worthy Boy in the recent Hambletonian.

Jackie Wilson Wins by Decision

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Jackie Wilson of Pittsburgh, former featherweight king, took a long step along the comeback trail by taking a 10-round decision over Lulu Costantino, New Yorker, Monday night before 6,660 spectators. Wilson weighed 127; Constantino 131.

The decision was a close one, but referee Charley Reynolds and the two judges agreed on the verdict. On the Associated Press card, the fight was scored even with Wilson taking four rounds, Costantino four and two all square.

Lancaster Blanks Phillies by 6-0

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Lancaster Red Roses, leading the Interstate League race, defeated Philadelphia Phillies 6-0 in an exhibition baseball game that drew 2,185 fans last night.

Woody Wheaton, manager of the Roses, and Les McCrabb, former Athletics' pitcher, allowed six hits in shutting out the big leaguers. Irv Levy of the Roses hit a home run in the second.

Belloise Scores Technical K.O.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Steve Belloise, New York middleweight, threw punch after punch at Howard Bennett, Monday night to win over the local boxer by a technical knockout midway in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round fight at the Coliseum.

Belloise, who tipped the scales at 158½ to Bennett's 166, proved too experienced for the Baltimorean and had Howard in trouble time after time before Referee Eddie Leonard stopped the fight.

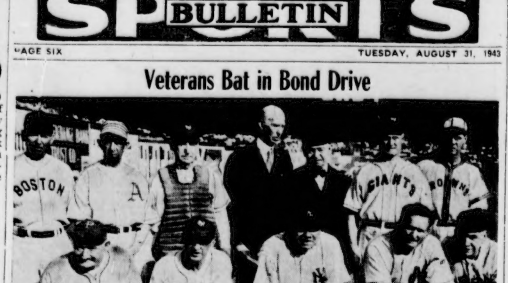

Joe Louis Starts On 100-Day Tour

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion of the world and now a United States army infantry sergeant, said Monday that he'd return to professional boxing after the war if he's able.

Setting out on a 100-day exhibition boxing tour of the country's military training centres, Louis said it was his understanding that the purpose of the tour was muscle-building and emphasizing the physical fitness needed to win the war.

Back row: Duffy Lewis, Eddie Collins, Roger Bresnahan, Connie Mack (who "managed" the team), Umpire Bill Klem, Red Murray and George Sisler.

Bomberettes Stop Corvettes To Even Intermediate Series

ERRORS proved costly at Kingsway Park Monday night when Air Force Bomberettes overcame a 3-1 lead and defeated Hayward Corvettes 8-4 to deadlock the intermediate girls best-of-three semi-finals at one game each.

The Bomberettes launched an 11-hit attack led by Elaine Potts with three in four trips to the plate, against Corvettes' chucker, Ann Bileway, while the losers were held to seven by Ann McGuire and Edna Jones.

McGuire started for the winners and retired the side in order in the first frame, but allowed three hits and the same number of runs in the second before being relieved by Jones, who turned in a sparkling performance for the remaining seven innings, only allowing four safeties.

LIL GRAHAM SCORES

Lil Graham singled to short field, stole second, made third on a putout at first and scored the opening run for Bomberettes in the first session on a hit to right field by Audrey Wellman, but Corvettes came back in the second to count twice on a like number of singles, an error and a passed ball, scoring Bea Hall, Dot Travers and Lee Krugar.

The Bomberettes rallied in the seventh for four runs to regain the lead and were never headed after that. Stella Noel made first on an error at short by Dot Travers, went to second as Lorraine Froeming got on on an error, stole third and was batted in by Betty Smith, who doubled to left field.

After reaching second on a passed ball, Froeming advanced one base on the double and came home on a sacrifice by Potts for the tying run. Smith put the winners out in front by going in third on the sacrifice and scoring after Isobel Dunn had flied out.

ADDED THREE MORE

The Air Force girls added three more in the ninth to bring their final count to eight. Elaine Potts singled to right field, went to second on a hit by Isobel Dunn to the same place, advanced on a fielder's choice that saw McGuire make first and then came in on a passed ball. Dunn went to third on the passed ball, McGuire going to second and then stole home. McGuire went to third on another passed ball and scored on a wild pitch.

Maud McLean rounded the bases for Corvettes in the last of the ninth on a single to centre field and two errors, but Evelyn McCormick was put out when she tried to steal second. Bea Hall flied out to centre and Krugar was retired at first to end the game.

Bicycle Races For Labor Day Only Open Events

There are no restrictions on entries for the two bicycle races on the program of the Inter-Service track and field meet scheduled for Labor Day at Clarke Stadium, these being the only two events open to other than service men.

The first competition for bike riders is a 10-lap affair and will be decided on a points basis—the leader of each lap scoring five points, three going to second and one for third place. The winner of the final sprint will be awarded 10 points.

It is expected there will be a limit of five miles on the final for the Australian pursuit race, with probably four riders competing and starting 110 yards apart. And rider overtaken and tagged is out.

Fight Fans Think Robinson Refrained From Kayoing Hank

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Most of the fight fans present had the idea that Ray Robinson was spilling a little of the milk of human kindness in his bout with Henry Armstrong at Madison Square Garden last Friday night. That is, that out of sympathy and respect he refrained from knocking out the worn and weary warrior.

If such was the case it was history making ditto marks, with Armstrong drawing the interest on a little investment in chivalry on his own part.

It wasn't too many years ago that Armstrong, then at his peak, met a fading Barney Ross.

Those who saw that battle, memorable because of the refusal of Ross to quit when hopelessly beaten, carried away the vivid impression that Armstrong eased up in the late rounds out of tribute to his gallant little opponent who, battered and gory and soggy and practically defenceless, was determined to go out as a champion should go out—doing his best and asking no quarter.

Those who saw that battle also probably never imagined that some day, a few years away, this same Armstrong would be in a position similar to that of Ross, saved from a knockout by the compassion of a younger and stronger rival.

The two fights—Robinson vs. Armstrong and Armstrong vs. Ross—offer a real book lesson to younger fighters if they would take the time to study it. Robinson, for all his strength and power today some day inevitably will find himself at the end of the road, putty to the whim of an opponent. May Robinson earn respect and compassion such as was earned by Ross and Armstrong through their years in the ring.

"M" Depot Beats I.T.S. For Inter-Service Title

NO. 3 "M" Depot won the Inter-Service Fastball League title Monday night when they defeated No. 4 Initial Training School 4-1 at the Navy grounds in the deciding game of the best-of-three final series.

Both teams had previously taken one contest of the home and home playoffs.

A three run homer in the third inning by Bruce Sills featured the fixture and gave "M" Depot a lead which the I.T.S. Airmen were unable to overcome although they scored once in the fourth.

Jerry St. Marie turned in a flight performance on the mound for the winners, only allowing three hits, one walk and fanning a total of 14.

Ernie Coleman held the "M" Depot squad to seven safeties and struck out six, but was not given the support of the plate by his teammates that St. Marie was. The fielding, however, was very good on both sides, only one error being marked up against each club.

AC2 Brokensihre and Morrison both got on base on consecutive singles in the third inning and came in on Sills' round tripper to centrefield to give the winners a 3-0 lead at that stage.

AC2. Balanko made first on a safe blow, stole second and was batted in by a double to centre field in the fourth session to account for the I.T.S. club's only run.

Harry Kermode made first on a single in the sixth, second on another safe blow, advanced on a walk and scored the final "M" Depot counter on an overthrow at home.

Score by innings:

No. 3 "M" Dep.	003	001	00x—4 7 1

Lineups:

Lindsay to Fight At Coast Sept. 8

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31—(CP)—Ted Moore, Vancouver fight promoter, announced Saturday that Kenny Lindsay, R.C.A.F. of Vancouver would fight a 10-round featherweight contest here Sept. 8 with Angelo Callura of Hamilton, Ont.

Lindsay recently won the services featherweight championship of the Dominion by stopping Pte. (Charlie Bagnato (Canadian Army) of Toronto after three rounds of a scheduled 10-round bout. He is a former bantamweight. Callura has fought against several top-ranking professionals.

Camrose Army Names Athletes For Track Meet

First to send in a complete list of entries, Camrose Army Training Centre evidently intends to make a strong bid for honors in the big inter-service track and field meet being held at Clarke Stadium here on Labor Day. The march past is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. and the races will commence at 2 o'clock.

While there are no pole vaulters amongst them, Camrose soldiers will be represented in all of the other track and field events.

Camrose is expected to make a particularly good showing in the jumps, for Cpl. H. M. Alderdice, who is entered in the high jump, hop step and running broad, is one of the outstanding athletes in the province.

Pte. E. E. Wood, Pte. N. E. Haskins and Pte. R. B. Percifield will compete in the 100 and Wood and Percifield along with Pte. W. W. Towell will represent the basic training centre in the 220.

Following are the Camrose entries:

100 yard dash—Pte. E. E. Wood, Pte. N. E. Haskins, Pte. R. B. Percifield.

High jump — Cpl. H. M. Alderdice, Pte. L. R. Peterson, Tpr. R. K. Strusberg.

Javelin—Cpl. T. N. Harrison, Strusberg, L.-Cpl. T. N. Wickstrom.

Shot put—Wickstrom, Harrison, L.-Cpl. G. S. Beyea.

Discus—Harrison, Strusberg, Beyea, Reisy—Alderdice, Strusberg, Monks, Wood.

Took Series From Cards 3-1

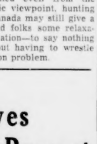

Cincinnati Improves Chances to Win Pennant

CINCINNATI, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The front office of Cincinnati Reds is in that state of "don't look now but maybe we got a chance" that marked their 1939 pennant drive. Last week General Manager Warren C. Giles said the second-place Reds couldn't possibly make up the 12½-game lead of St. Louis Cardinals unless the latter collapsed.

Then the Reds took three out of four games from the Cards over the week-end, the margin was cut to 10½ games.

Yesterday Manager Bill McKechnie was able to say, "Today is just another day." That for him is optimism.

At any rate, the general atmosphere has changed from "second place money is good" to "we could spend that first dough."

Bill McKechnie

The big improvement in the Reds is credited to many things, all adding up to a ball club. In the first place, Bucky Walters, the preseason unsuccessful high hurdler, is back in winning form. Frank McCormick is back in the lineup, Max Marshall is hitting again. Third Baseman Bert Haas is going great guns in centre field.

Finally, Lefty Clyde Shoun is saving so many games as a relief pitcher that McKechnie no longer worried about the opposing clubs late-inning rallies. Clyde, currently the league's leading pitcher, won five of the 15 road victories and saved two more. Some around the Reds believe he's the greatest relief pitcher they've ever seen.

Alberta Fastball Final Saturday

The deciding game in the best of three senior girls' provincial fastball finals between Walk-Rites and Calgary Chinooks will be played here Saturday night starting at 7:15. On Sunday the teams will stage and exhibition doubleheader. The starting time is 2 o'clock.

The Chinooks won the opening contest of the series which was played at Calgary Saturday, Aug. 24 by a 4-3 score, but the western Canadian champions came back the following Saturday in a game played at Kingsway to win 4-0 and square the series. The victors of this series advances into the west playoffs.

Bill Hulse Fails Break Mile Mark

PRINCETON, N.J., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Lacking the incentive provided by the flying heels of Gunder Haegg on various tracks this winter, Bill Hulse, newest American distance king, failed Saturday in an attempt to crack the flying Swede's American mile mark of 4:05.3.

Hulse ran the distance at Palmer Stadium in 4:06.7 in a handicap race against Ted Carter and Bob Depler of the Princeton University track team.

His time was far off the 4:06 mark he established at Berea, Ohio, earlier this summer when he finished second to Haegg for the fastest mile ever run by an American.

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

(1) It will be the most compact tourney in the nation's history, with all competitions — men's, women's and doubles — compressed into six days and limited to 32 contestants in each division.

(2) Though Francisco Segura of Ecuador is favored to take the men's title, double-grip "Pancho" will be confronted with the finest force of U.S. stars assembled for any tournament since Pearl Harbor. They'll include at least six service men.

FIVE-WAY FIGHT

(3) A wide-open, five-way fight seems assured for the women's crown among Pauline Betz, defending champion; Louise Brough, Margaret Osborne, Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke and Doris Hart.

(4) Metropolitan fans are "hungry" for big-time play, after a year in which the Tennis Association concentrated on staging local Red Cross tourneys in various sections (nearly 300 of them) and in developing young players.

As a result of this co-operation, Ensign Ted Schroeder will be on hand to defend his men's singles title. Also Corp. Frank Parker, second in the national rankings; Jack Kramer of the coast guard; Lieut. Joe Hunt of the navy; Pvt. Bitsy Grant; Corp. Charles Hare of the U.S. Army (former British Davis Cup star) and Sermour Greenberg, who originally was ordered to report for training in the army air corps. Lieut. Gardnar Mulloy of the navy apparently will be the only prominent service player unable to make the tourney. He commands a ship.

HEADS CIVILIAN LIST

PANCHO SEGURA, the diminutive, dark-haired and explosive Equadorian, heads the civilian contingent that will try to lift Ensign Schroeder's championship. This contingent included Bill Talbe and Sidney Wood, fifth and sixth rankers; Ladislaw Hecht, No. 110, and a sturdy trio of youngsters; Bob Falkenburg, junior champ; James Brink and Jack Turner.

Segura is favored because he swept everything in sight this year, starting with the Sugar Bowl invitation meet and continuing through the National Intercollegiate, Eastern Grass, Eastern Intercollegiate, New Jersey State and Southampton turneys. Greenberg won a match from Segura in round-robin play at Southampton, but little Pancho came back to defeat Greenberg in the play-off for the trophy.

Meanwhile Pauline Betz faces a difficult assignment in retaining her singles diadem. Her opponents include Margaret Osborne, who defeated Pauline at Rye this year; Louis Brough, last year's runner-up; Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke, the '41 titleholder who retired last year but who was returned to competition recently in excellent form; and Doris Hart, the Florida lass who Sunday retained her National girls' title at Philadelphia.

Believe It Or Not

By CHARLIE EDWARDS

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Pete Slobodian, one-time New York Americans hockey defenseman, did some frank talking during a furlough at Regina Slobodian, it seems, figures the Allan Cup can be shipped to Toronto right now. He's stationed with the R.C.A.F. at Toronto and the airmen have many other stars in the same camp, including Bus Wycherley, Eddie Bush, Johnny Chad, Lloyd Gronsdal, Roy Concher, Johnny Quilty and Ab Collings. And it's expected that Johnny Mowers, Detroit's Vezina trophy winner, will join the Toronto camp for goal duties.

Prospectus:

Grapevine reports indicate the air force may concentrate its hockey talent in five teams next winter — Vancouver, Calgary, Winnipeg and two in the east. Last year the R.C.A.F. had 10 major teams—Victoria, Vancouver, Calgary, Lethbridge, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal and Halifax. . . . Jack Park of the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder, an authority on Quebec Senior League doings, hears that Tommy Gorman of the Montreal forum is trying to discourage operations of service teams in Montreal this season.

Park says Gorman's hope is to have a civilian league with two Montreal teams and one each from Quebec and Ottawa. There may be something to this rumor because evidently Ottawa Commandos, Allan cup champions, do not intend to operate this year. Commando players have been scattered to all parts of the Dominion and there are no reports of replacements. Park suggests Jim McCaffrey may operate a combined army-civilian team in Ottawa, possibly under the old name of Senators.

Incidentally:

Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson comes up with proof the hockey players of the 1920's were plenty tough. Sprague Cleghorn, who helped Ottawa Senators and Montreal Canadiens win the Stanley cup, works in a Montreal defence plant. A steel bar weighing 1,200 pounds fell on his leg. The steel bar was badly bent. Sprague suffered a few torn muscles and tendons. . . . There was quite a furore last fall when Tommy Cooper, former Winnipeg and Moose Jaw hockey star, refused a Toronto Maple Leafs contract because he was employed in essential industry at St. Catharines. Now Tommy has joined the R.C.A.F.

Ontario junior hockey clubs were scrambling for services of Verdun Kaiser of Preston, Ont. He has finally located at Port Colborne.

Wins Powder Puff Derby at Calgary

CALGARY, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Some Star, ridden by Mrs. A. Finch and owned by Higgins & Jamieson of Calgary, won by a length from Little Barb, Mrs. Jean Hawes up, from the Gardner stables. Pirmes Creek, in the final heat of the Calgary outdoor horse show's powder puff derby here last night.

Covering the about five furlongs route in 1:00 3-5, Some Star kept up a sustained drive in the stretch to win over Little Barb which started to fade a few strides from the wire. Edna S. owned and ridden by Mrs. C. Simpson of Airdrie, finished third in the six-horse field. All entries carried 135 pounds.

Navy Gains Lead Halifax Finals

HALIFAX, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Navy gained a lead in the opening game here Monday night of the best-of-seven final series of the Halifax Senior Baseball League. The sailors defeated the Army 6-3 behind the hurling of Ed Parker of Ontario who relieved Tim Neary of Glace Bay, N.S., in the first inning, after Neary had allowed three hits and one Army run. Athol Foster of Winnipeg did mound duty for the soldiers, giving up 10 hits.

Pirates Split With Cards To Remain in Third Place

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates Monday barely held on to their small lead for third place in the National League as they dropped the second game of a doubleheader to St. Louis 8-3 after winning the first one in 10 innings 4-3.

The even break left the Bucs still 14½ games behind the pace-setting Cards and put two percentage points ahead of the Dodgers in fourth place. The two games were the only ones yesterday in the National League and opened a five-game series.

In winning the opener, aided by three Cardinal errors, the Pirates handed southpaw rookie Alpha Brazle his first defeat since he joined the club six weeks ago.

Noted Canadian Editor Succumbs To Heart Attack

TORONTO, Aug. 31.— (CP) — John W. Tibbs, 63, feature service editor of The Canadian Press and widely known throughout the newspaper profession in Canada, died suddenly last night of a heart attack.

Mr. Tibbs left his office at the CP apparently in good health and had just reached his home in the northern end of the city when he collapsed and died.

He is survived by his widow, Violet Lavery Tibbs, and two sons, AC2 John L. Tibbs and LAC Edgar Tibbs of the Royal Canadian Air Force. When war-guest children were brought to Canada from England, Mr. Tibbs took into his home Jean Imock, now 14.

Ontario Farmers Volunteering for West Harvest Work

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Selective Service officials said yesterday that Ontario farmers are volunteering in substantial numbers to journey west and repay the 700-odd men from western Canada who came east earlier in the season to help harvest crops. W. M. Cockburn, of Newmarket, York County agricultural representative, said the westerners had helped save the day on many farms here.

Girls' Glamor League

Helen Nicol Well on Way To Winning Pitching Honors

CHICAGO, Aug. 31. — (CP) — Helen Nicol, whose effectiveness as a hurler has kept Kenosha in the race for second half honors, appears well on her way to winning the second half pitching title in the All-American Girls' Softball Glamor League.

With only several games remaining to be played in the season's schedule, the Edmonton girl has 15 victories and only two defeats. Her total of wins for the entire season is 27.

Other Canadian girls standing high in the pitching race are Doris Barr, who picked up her softball knowledge on Winnipeg corner lots and is now a top-flight mound star with South Bend, and Catherine Bennett, another South Bend flinger who hails from Regina. Barr has eight wins and four losses, while Bennett has five wins and three losses.

Gladys (Terrie) Davis, of Toronto, reigns supreme as the leading Canadian batter in the cfreuit with an average of .254. Davis, who won the league's first half batting crown has 36 blows in 142 times at bat.

Kenosha Comets and South Bend are at present waging a merry battle for the second half title. Both have 27 victories and 17 defeats and yesterday were engaged in a series which has the pennant at stake. The second half winner will go against Racine Belles first half champions, for the league championship.

Arrows Play Yanks Tonight

Third game of the best-of-seven series between Yanks and Arrows for the city baseball title is scheduled for Renfrew Park tonight and will start at 6:30.

Either Walter Nelson or John Gray and Morris Hawkey will be the opposing pitchers. The U.S. Army club won the first two games.

Men's Playoffs Kingsway Tonight

No. 3 "M" Depot will be trying to eliminate Aircraft Repair from the Senior Men's Fastball League playoffs at Kingsway Park tonight starting at 7:15 o'clock in the second game of the best of three semi-finals. The airmen won the first contest which was played last Saturday by a 3-1 score.

Wednesday night at the park, Walk-Rites meet Army and Navy Pats in the opener of the Senior Girls' League, three of five finals.

"ICEBOX" HOME SITES

Most healthful location for building their homes was chosen by residents of ancient Bazdad by hanging up game in various sections of town. Least healthful place to build was the site on which the meat spoiled first.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Bill Brown, 16-year-old Winnipeg public course player, won the Manitoba junior golf crown here Saturday by turning in an 18-hole score of 80 to top a field of 43. Sharing the runner-up spot with cards of 81 were Gabe Taylor of Portage La Prairie, Allan McClure, Jim Thomson, Billy Johnston and Don Gibson, all of Winnipeg.

Spark-plug

In addition to performing a high class job behind the plate and batting the pace for batting in the current title baseball series between Yanks and Arrows, Tony Lollo's continuous chatter has played no small part in keeping the soldiers on their toes. The U.S. Army catcher so far has collected five hits out of nine trips for an average of .556.

for the conception and completion of the Alaska Highway. I accept the bridge in the name of the Dominion government and the province of British Columbia. It is a binding link between our two nations on the North American continent," he said.

Opening ceremonies were commenced with an American army band playing the national anthems of both countries. A hundred feet above the slow coursing Peace river the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes flapped in a high wind as upwards of a thousand soldiers and civilians saw the red, white and blue tape snapped by scissors in the hands of Mr. Anscomb and Senator James Scrugham who officially dedicated the bridge on behalf of the United States government.

A guard of honor from the R.C.A.F. and the United States Army added color to the scene, where speakers told of the grim scenes in bitter winter as the 200 foot towers were raised into the sky. The bridge has a main span 930 feet long, has approaches of 135 feet at either end. A concrete deck 24 feet wide makes the structure one of the largest on the continent.

The river is crossed at a point where engineers have long doubted crossing facilities could be built and where tiny and now hopelessly inadequate ferries operated by the British Columbia government carried what traffic came to the river shores. The war boom, and mushrooming activity of Dawson Creek, Fort St. John, and the whole highway demanded a new bridge, and the result is the huge structure just opened. Rich farms line the area served by the bridge, and standing on it one can see the new road to the north winding straight through eroded cliffs that have withstood man's aggression until this month.

Senator Scrugham's dedicatory address follows:

DEDICATORY ADDRESS

"The formal opening of this magnificent structure is symbolic especially today as the first movement of cargo traffic on a large scale indicates just another link in the wide highway we can all see to peace for the world. As I look in every direction from this span, I see lovely rolling countryside that should never be desecrated by other than the obviously fine agricultural pursuits to which its pioneers have subscribed for generations.

"Flying over this area where some of the best quality wheat in the world is grown, it was like looking down on a child's toy, the green of the fields contrasting with the wheat shocked in yellow squares adjoining meadows covered at this time of year with the bright yellows and reds of the famous Fireweed. Driving along the Alaska Highway yesterday and today as far as Fort Nelson, we were struck by the splendid development of this road which was started at the dictate of war and will live to be an interesting link in the closely-knit friendship that has always existed between Canada and the United States.

"Not but a short year ago, it was considered an achievement of great personal prowess to journey by water in summer or dog sled in winter to the little Indian and trappers' trading post of Fort Nelson. One trip was all that could be made in the summer while our driving time on the highway was about twelve hours from Fort St. John in a stream-lined bus.

"The largest structure on the 1,630 mile highway to Alaska, this bridge has a total length of 3,275 feet. The main span between two suspension towers is 930 feet, feet. There are two wide spans of 265 feet each and two approach spans of 135 feet each. Initial construction was commenced in November, 1942, and the total cost is estimated at $1,750,000. Work continued to be carried on throughout temperatures as low as 60 degrees below zero.

"However difficult may have been the working conditions, the crews of both the Canadian and American contractors continued to give their utmost to complete this link in the first land route ever to be built from the United States through Canada to the Alaska territory.

EPIC PERFORMANCE

"I consider the completion of this military highway this fall as an epic performance comparable to the great projects developed in modern times such as the Coulee and Boulder Dam developments. Construction of the highway has gone down in history as one of many greatest achievements. Working under the most difficult conditions, and in all kinds of weather, you men are truly deserving of the greatest tribute that this continent can give you. You smashed into the backdoor of Alaska in less than eight months and now less than a year later you are prepared to carry our fight to the enemy over this route. I cannot compliment too highly you men who came up here and gave up the comforts at home to contribute directly to the defeat of our common enemies.

"But the hardships, the loneliness and the suffering that you bore with such fortitude I am sure today seems little enough to you when you see this splendid bridge that your efforts created. No finer record for construction of a suspension bridge of this type has ever been made. I am assured by experts of the Public Roads Administration which designed and supervised in construction.

"I like to think of the co-operation between the Dufferin Paving Company Limited, of Toronto, which built the substructure, and the super-structure, as a token of the wedding of our United Nations into a closely-knit group that no power on earth can long withstand.

"It has been a privilege to take part in this ceremony today and it is with great pride on behalf of the United States, not only an allied nation of Canada, but a close neighbor living in the next block, to dedicate this structure to an even closer understanding and co-operation in the development of the civilization of our great North American continent and to a lasting peace."

PRAISES BUILDERS

Major-General Phillip B. Fleming, administrator of the United States federal works agency, praised the bridge builders who designed and built the structure. His address follows:

"This bridge which we dedicate today forms an important link in the armor of the North American continent. Over it will pass men and materials to help make us secure from attack and more quickly bring peace to a war weary world. Perhaps we also may think of it as one of the keys that will unlock the yet untold wealth of Alaska that fruitful land which, until yesterday seemed to many of us, both in Canada and the United States so remote and inaccessible.

"New waves of pioneers to settle Alaska and exploit its wealth will count this structure an important milestone along the way. I sometimes think that the bridge is one of the noblest works of man. It is the bridge more than any other artifice, that enlarges horizons by making it possible for us to know the people on the other side of the water.

"And this is true whether the bridge is suspended on cables of steel as this is, or made up of caravans of the sky. Bridges span the gap between creed and creed, between race and race. This bridge built by the Public Roads Administration of the Federal Works Agency is in a sense, a lineal descendent of Brooklyn bridge which was opened to traffic just 60 years ago this summer. The genius of John Augustus Roebling, one of the really great names in engineering history, touched them both. The Brooklyn bridge was not the first of the suspension spans, but it remains today one of the most famous.

REVOLUTIONIZED METHODS

"Prior to its erection, suspension bridges had been built with chain cables. John Roebling revolutionized the process by substituting steel wire cables. Other Roebling innovations have become standard practice, and may be found repeated here. And the firm founded by John Roebling, the John A. Roebling's Sons Company of Trenton, N.J., still carried on by his descendents, furnished and erected the superstructure steel. Consruction of the Brooklyn bridge began in 1870, it was completed in 1883 thirteen years later. This bridge was begun in December, 1942, and completed eight months later.

"In the historical accounts we learn of the hazards that attended the building of the Brooklyn bridge. John Roebling himself suffered injuries while making a preliminary survey that cost his life. It is well to remember that men also risked their lives on this spot and overcame great obstacles. For example, concreting for the main piers was carried on at a temperature as low as 40 degrees below zero by Canadian contractors.

"The aggregates had to be preheated. Protection of the concrete, after it was placed in the forms, called for extremely fine adjustments. The work of erecting the main towers went forward on the ice. This meant that they had to be completed before the ice in the river should break up, which normally occurs early in April. I think I can say that the gratitude of our two nations goes out today to the workers who labored here. Their comrades on the battlefronts of the world have not toiled more heroically or at times under greater hazards to bring victory to our arms. One more comment may be made. John Roebling was born here in Germany and came to America as a young man of 25. Thus the spark of a genius that first glowed in the land to today's dictators transplanted in the new world, eventually helped to forge one of the instruments that will blot dictatorship from the earth.

EXTREME PRIDE

"It is with extreme pride that we today present this structure to the Canadian government through the British Columbia minister of public works, the Hon. Mr. Anscomb."

Hon. W. A. Fallow, public works minister of Alberta, officially attended the ceremonies on behalf of his province. Thomas H. MacDonald, United States public roads administration, and Maj. A. Robertson, Vancouver, representing Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, special Dominion commissioner to the northwest, were present, as was Brig.-Gen. James A. O'Connor, officer commanding the Northwest Service Command.

Brig.-Gen. L. D. Worsham, divisional chief of the United States army engineers, and United States government officials attending, besides Senator Scrugham, were Senators D. D. Burk, Arkansas, and W. Sanger, North Dakota, and Congressman H. D. Angell, Oregon.

● A recent independent, nation-wide poll amongst Canadian motorists shows that more than one-half of them prefer Goodyears.

Now that motorists have found it necessary to get every last mile out of their tires, they're finding out for themselves just how much extra mileage and how many "lasting qualities" Goodyears have.

Of course, it has always been true that Goodyears could deliver a plus in mileage and service. It's true, because Goodyear has always built extra stamina, quality and value into Goodyear tires.

That's going to be true, too, when you can buy your next set of Goodyears. It may be some time before those new Goodyears will be available ! ! ! maybe not until after the war ! ! ! but, you can bank on this, they'll still be Canada's "first choice" tire.

Here is the

19 Recommendations on Child Welfare Given Council

Alberta Industrial Homes Urged for Rehabilitation Of Delinquent Children

Establishment of one or two industrial homes in Alberta for training and rehabilitation of juvenile delinquents was urged by George B. Henwood, K.C., chairman of the regional war labor board and former deputy attorney general of the province, before the provincial committee investigating child welfare conditions in Alberta.

He said that two such homes should be established for incorrigibles, one near Edmonton and the other on the outskirts of Calgary. He suggested that each should have a capacity for not more than 30.

The need of a government institution in Alberta where delinquents could be given the advantage of proper training and rehabilitation was urged by A. I. Millar, K.C., police magistrate for the City of Edmonton.

MANY NEED CARE

While strongly favoring the foster home plan for handling juvenile delinquents now in operation in Alberta Mr. Henwood was of the opinion that there were quite a number of incorrigible children for whose care industrial homes should be provided.

These homes, he suggested, should have a farm and be well established under the management of a man and wife interested in the rehabilitation of children. There should be a teacher to instruct in the ordinary school curriculum and also instruction in mechanical trades.

He said it should be recognized that there must be more expenditures for child welfare purposes by the provinces or municipalities or a combination of these agencies. "Better facilities than those available in the past were necessary for the care of boys," he stated.

"I believe the girl situation in the province is being fairly well taken care of," he replied to a question from a committee member.

Responsibility for admission to the proposed industrial homes, Mr. Henwood stated, should rest with the superintendent of child welfare, and public welfare committee of some similar agency.

Mrs. Hall asked if the provision of year-round playground activities would improve conditions in the city, and added that no part of the province had done much in providing year-round playgrounds.

POOR HOME CONDITION

Mr. Henwood said that many juvenile delinquents came from poor home conditions. Also lack of funds had prevented the making of proper investigation of complaints.

Question concerning encouragement to women to enter war work, Mr. Henwood expressed the opinion that "if there were children to look after women should be discouraged from taking up war work."

Mr. Henwood was not in agreement with the suggestion that the limitation age for juveniles should be reduced to 16. He said that "the time for saving the child from a life of crime should start, as now, under the age of 18."

Magistrate Millar said that his experience with juvenile delinquents showed that such cases came from homes where conditions were unsatisfactory. Such conditions, he said, might be caused by disagreement between husband and wife, or lack of parental control.

He suggested that in addition to sending children to foster homes there should be a government institution established. Children in the foster home, he added, should be properly instructed by competent people, and upon leaving the institution the juvenile should be assisted to find employment.

Representing the Junior Service Bureau, Robert W. Swanson, vice-president of the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce, presented a brief to the committee outlining the aims and objects of the bureau, and suggested that the bureau was finding employment for juveniles that should have worthwhile results.

Proud Boy

Four-year-old Allin Spracklin, son of Sapper Ernest Spracklin, R.C.E., overseas, and Mrs. Spracklin of Edmonton, who has saved his pennies and is now the proud owner of a $4 war savings certificate. (See story Page 16).

Labor Shortage Is Being Felt At Civic Block

Shortage of male labor is being felt in a second civic department, and consideration is being given by the electric light and water billing section to the employment of women meter readers.

Announcement of the possibility of employing women for this work was made Tuesday by John Hodgson, city commissioner, who stated that consideration was being given to the type of uniform the women meter readers would wear. He said it was possible that the appointment of at least two women meter readers could be made before the end of September.

Recently it was announced that women street car conductors would be employed on the two-conductor street cars being designed to speed-up service on the street railway.

Material for the conversion of the street cars into two-conductor vehicles is being assembled at the car barns, and work on the change over will be started immediately. Thomas Ferrier, street railway system's superintendent, stated Tuesday.

The change over will necessitate the placing of grab handles at the rear door of the cars, and also to some alterations in the rear seating accommodation.

It was learned that the question of smoking in street cars during the winter months will probably come before city council at the next regular meeting. Whether or not the commissioners will recommend against smoking in the street cars could not be ascertained.

Women Planning Saturday Tag Day

The women's auxiliaries of the 61st, 92nd, and 96th Batteries Royal Canadian Artillery, are holding a joint tag day Saturday in an effort to raise money for the cigarettes, comforts and Christmas parcels for the men serving in their batteries.

Many of these men have been overseas for nearly four years and the auxiliaries are putting forth a special effort to supply comforts and cigarettes which mean so much to them.

Volunteers are needed to act as taggers and women wishing to aid are requested to call on officials in charge of the tag day: For the 61st Battery, Mrs. Gordon Hauff, phone 83193; the 92nd Battery, Mrs. L. Parker, 26376, and for the 96th Battery, Mrs. G. Willson, 73194 and organizing the workers.

Mrs. E. Herity 31759 will be in charge of the taggers on the South Side.

Headquarters for the tag day will be in the I.O.O.F. hall.

There is only one person to each square mile in Nevada.

Four-Year-Old Boy Receives Skull Fracture

Terry Clark, four-year-old son of Mrs. Wilbur J. Clark, 9925 87 avenue, struck by a trolley bus as he rushed across the intersection of 86 avenue and 99 street, was taken to the University hospital at 4 p.m. Monday, where it was found he was suffering from a fractured skull.

Operator of the bus was Lewis Scadds, 11844 86 street, who apparently had no time to bring the vehicle to a stop as the youngster ran from a house and across the street.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Picked up by a passing motorist, the injured boy was taken to the University hospital for medical attention. His condition Tuesday morning was reported favorable.

Wilbur J. Clark, father of the boy, is serving overseas with the Loyal Edmonton Regiment, having left Canada for overseas duty with the regiment in 1939.

THE QUESTION

A shipment of wild horses from southern Alberta to California, for human consumption, was announced recently. Horse flesh is said to have a sweet taste. How would you feel about eating it?

THE ANSWERS

TED LEE, government employee: During the last war I saw horse flesh shops in England, but did not eat any of the meat. During the siege of Paris, however, people ate rats. I'm sure I would prefer the horse flesh to rats.

THOMAS WATSON, steward: Horse flesh or mule meat is just as good as beef. During the first world war, I had a horse shot from under me. A Frenchman served it for dinner next day. You couldn't tell the difference between it and beef.

MRS. J. ROBERTSON, housewife: Not for mine. I like horses pulling a plow, or drawing a milk-rig, or running races. But I draw the line when it comes time to put it on my plate. I'll become a vegetarian first.

17 Albertans Win Army Promotions

Promotion of 17 Alberta men serving with the Canadian Army in this province was announced Tuesday by headquarters of Military District No. 13.

Twelve members of the Corps of Military Staff Clerks at Calgary, four men from A16 C.I.C. Currie Barracks, and one from No. 133 Basic Training Centre at Wetaskiwin were promoted.

Promoted to staff sergeants in the C.M.S.C. were Sgts. George H. Spence of Stavely, Edward A. Bergeron of Pouce Coupe and Robert Thompson of Red Deer. Staff Sgt. Spence was a machinist, Staff Sgt. Bergeron a relief investigator in the Peace River block and Staff Sgt. Thompson a machinist in civilian life.

Promoted from Corporal to Sergeant in the C.M.S.C. were Ronald F. Bishop, Gordon C. Begg, Kenneth J. Green, Harry Campbell, and Robert M. Ross of Calgary, Richard Pennifold of Nanton, and William J. Evans of Waterton.

L-Cpl. W. J. Walters of Vermilion, with the C.M.S.C., was promoted to sergeant.

Cpls. John T. James of Queenstown and Duncan MacGregor of Calgary were promoted to the rank of sergeant at Currie Barracks and Lance Corporals John H. Wecker of Calgary and Oscar W. Tee of Medicine Hat to the rank of corporal.

At Wetaskiwin basic training centre Sgt. William H. Smith of Edmonton was promoted to the rank of quartermaster sergeant (WO2).

Diphtheria Case Reported in City

One case of diphtheria and two cases of carriers of this disease were reported to the city health department, according to a report filed Tuesday by Dr. G. M. Little with the city commissioner.

The diphtheria case is that of an adult woman, and the two carrier cases are members of the same family. All have been taken to the isolation hospital, and are not considered serious cases.

During the week 81 cases were reported compared with 55 for the previous week. The following is a tabulation of the cases:

Former "Y" Leader Wounded Overseas

Former "Y" leader and physical instructor with an Edmonton unit, Drummer Duncan Blackie, of Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, has been wounded in Sicily according to official word received here.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Blackie, 12015 91 street, and his wife and son, Robert, also live in Edmonton.

Drummer Blackie who is 27 years old, went overseas with the Loyal Edmonton Regiment nearly four years ago. He was the fifth man to enlist in the unit here in 1939 for active service. After going overseas he transferred to the Seaforth Highlanders.

People to Forget "Catch Phrases"

The people of Canada are not ready yet to turn the affairs of Canada over to any visionary or inexperienced people, and will not be until after the peace has been concluded, according to the opinion expressed by W. Mayhew, Liberal member of parliament for Victoria, B.C., in commenting on the increased popularity of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation movement in Canada.

Mr. Mayhew, who is president of the Sidney Roofing and Paper Co., Victoria, is a business visitor in Edmonton and is a guest at the Macdonald hotel. He will stop over in the city for several days.

He expressed his confidence that when the people of Canada have time to think things over they will forget the catch phrases of the new parties and will entrust the affairs of the nation to one or the other of the two old parties.

P. H. Cordingley Funeral Wednesday

Funeral services will be held Wednesday for Philip William Cordingley of 10709 113 street who died at his home Sunday. A railroadman for 47 years, and a resident of Edmonton for the last 28 years, Mr. Cordingley was well-known in the city. He was born in Rainham, Kent, England, and came here in 1915.

He is survived by Mrs. Cordingley, son, Lionel, Edmonton; three daughters, Mrs. F. H. Koerber, Edmonton; Mrs. H. C. Wilford, Palmerston, Ont.; Mrs. H. H. Reed, Rothsay, Ont.; and three brothers, Albert A. Cordingley, Warton, Ont.; L. E. Cordingley of Fargo, N.D.; J. S. Cordingley of Montreal.

Service will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Foster and McGarry's chapel with the Rev. A. J. Marsh officiating. Burial will be in Edmonton Cemetery.

Police Recover Bicycle Stolen Over Year Ago

Disappearing from a business place in downtown Edmonton in August, 1942, a bicycle has been returned, and now rests at the city police station, where it awaits its owner, understood to be a resident of Calgary, it was stated Monday.

Authorities in Winnipeg, while checking the cycle a short time ago, discovered that the serial number corresponded to that of a machine reportedly stolen in Edmonton a year ago.

After it was stolen, it was said, the cycle was sold to someone who in turn shipped it to a friend in the Manitoba capital. A suspected is a youth whose record is known to local authorities. Investigations are continuing.

Purse Is Lost

Her purse, containing $60, a registration card, liquor permit and letters, were lost in a downtown store Monday afternoon, Mrs. C. M. Larson, 9625 109 avenue, reported to police. She had been shopping at the time the purse disappeared.

Nazi Air Chief

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Air Gen. Guenther Korten has been appointed chief of staff of the German air force succeeding the late Col.-Gen. Hans Jeschonnek, the Berlin radio reported last night.

Heavy Demand Reported for Harvest Help

The demand for harvest help is heavy and increasing daily, according to Selective Service officials in Edmonton. Already men are being sent to farms in the district and arrangements have been made whereby they will be paid a non-skid fee of approximately $2.25 a day plus board, so they will be available when the harvest operations commence.

Some barley is being cut in the district but recent rains are retarding this work. Many farmers are adopting the policy of hiring help beforehand in readiness for the harvest operations.

Selective Service officials are anticipating difficulty in obtaining sufficient help to fill the demands of the farmers and anybody who has worked on a farm or can do so will be sent out to help with the harvest.

It is expected that a large number of school boys will be able to relieve the situation somewhat by helping with stooking during the harvest operations.

A-R-O-U-N-D THE TOWN

Bank clearings through the Edmonton Clearing House for August totalled $36,178,873.41, up against $25,341,706.39 for the corresponding month of last year.

Pilot Officer Stanley V. Garside, son of T. E. Garside, K.C., city solicitor, and Mrs. Garside, arrived in Edmonton Tuesday on leave. He has been serving as a fighter pilot on the Aleutian battle front.

S. M. Greene, C.N.R. District Passenger Agent, returned to the city by plane Tuesday morning from Fort St. John, after attending the opening of the new Peace River bridge Monday.

The regular meeting of the Council of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Corona hotel on Wednesday at a luncheon meeting. Reports of the chamber's various committees will be presented at this meeting.

Gyro members were entertained at their luncheon, held at the Macdonald hotel, Tuesday, with two reels of motion pictures, "Battle of the Fire" and "Planning a Saner World". Stan Smith, president, was chairman.

United States army engineers got together Sunday at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club to play in the North West Division golf championship. There were 24 competitors, all members of the North West Division. The champion flight went to Ted Martin and the consolation flight to Lt. Charles A. Duncan. Runner-up in the first flight, with Paul Gauvreau getting the consolation. The second flight was won by G. L. Bennett and consolation by Paul F. Feidler.

Urges Lowering Delinquents' Ages

Canon C. F. A. Clough, former magistrate of the juvenile court, advocated a lowering of the age from 18 to 16, and dealt with his experience with delinquency during his tenure of office as magistrate at the Tuesday sitting of the committee probing delinquency.

On behalf of the University of Alberta's Women's Club Mrs. E. W. S. Kane submitted the recommendation that the age should be increased to include a majority of laymen not associated in any way with the child welfare department.

She advocated also that the services and advice of an independent investigator or social worker, recommended by the Canadian Welfare Committee, be secured, and that the efficiency of the foster home plan in operation be assured through the appointment of more trained and experienced inspectors and probation officers so that investigations could be more thorough.

Before the establishment of any institution in Alberta along Borstal lines there should be a campaign to inform the public on the Borstal system. The formation of a Borstal association should precede the establishing of these proposed institutions.

Awarded Medal

Maj.-Gen. J. P. MacKenzie, D.S.O., inspector-general of the Canadian Army in Western Canada, whose receipt of the Efficiency Decoration for service, was announced Tuesday by national defence headquarters.

Army Inspector Awarded Medal For Efficiency

National defence headquarters Tuesday announced the award of the Canadian Efficiency Decoration to Maj. Gen. John P. Mackenzie, D.S.O., inspector general of the Canadian Army for Western Canada, whose headquarters office is in Edmonton.

Maj. Gen. Mackenzie had a notable record in the first Great War winning the Distinguished Service Order three times, the Croix de Guerre and being mentioned in despatches several times.

After the war he took an active part in the Reserve Army, was transferred to the Reserve of Officers in 1922 but in 1929 was appointed to command the First Battalion Vancouver Regiment, with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

COMMANDED ENGINEERS

After going on the reserve list again for another period he was appointed in May, 1940, to command the 2nd Divisional Engineers, C.A.S.F. with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He was promoted to colonel in April, 1941, to command an overseas works establishment, and afterwards raised to the rank of Brig.-Gen., Aug. 28, 1941, in command of an Infantry Brigade.

Maj. Gen. Mackenzie was recalled from overseas in February, 1942, to take the appointment of Quartermaster General being promoted to his present rank at that time.

He was appointed Inspector General for Western Canada on May 1 of this year succeeding Maj. Gen. A. A. Griesbach, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., who resigned because of ill health.

5 U.S. Senators Visit Northland

Five United States senators are now in the north making a survey of the Alaska highway and other U.S. projects, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Senator James G. Scrugham, Democrat, Nevada, who performed the opening ceremonies of the Peace River bridge in addition of a public sub-committee on post offices and post roads. When he left Edmonton Saturday he was accompanied by Senator Chapman Revercomb, Republican, Delaware, and Senator William Langer, Independent, North Dakota.

Two other senators who are also members of the investigating committee took the coast route to Alaska. They are Sen. Harely Kilgore, Democrat, West Virginia, and Homer Ferguson, Republican, Michigan.

The senators will visit all major military and naval establishments in Alaska, the party of senators and U.S. military and public roads officials are expected to return to Edmonton Sept. 6 on the way home.

More Rainfall

Showers which started at 8.50 p.m. Monday after a partially dull and windy day, continued intermittently all night. The rainfall was never very heavy and total precipitation was .04 of an inch. The temperature was noticeably cooler Monday with a maximum of only 71 degrees. Although Tuesday dawned dull and still windy the weather man promised generally fair and moderately warm weather.

Alberta Survey Proposed To Appraise All Services, Chart Adequate Program

Nineteen recommendations were made to the provincial committee on child welfare by Dr. Mary Hunter, Mrs. Marjorie Pardee and Miss Lillian Thomson, representing the executive committee of the Council of Social Agencies of Edmonton Tuesday morning.

Recommendations included the continued adherence to standard rules ad procedures in relation to protection, foster home placement, adoption and institutional placement; the handling of delinquents in juvenile courts; extension of facilities at the provincial training school at Red Deer, and others.

An official survey of Alberta's child welfare services conducted by the Canadian Welfare Council or the Child Welfare League of America, was recommended.

DRAFT ADEQUATE PROGRAM

To be satisfactory to the many citizens who feel deep anxiety about the welfare of children in the province, a survey should be made by one of the national organizations equipped to appraise existing services in relation to accepted standards and to chart a program which would adequately meet the problems of neglected and delinquent children in Alberta, it was stated.

Adherence to standard rules and procedures in the fields of protection, foster home placement, adop-

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Fewer Lost Marriages If Mates Preserve Love

Neglectful Husbands and Nagging, Selfish Wives Cause Home Trouble That Can't be Repaired, Break Hearts and Lives

A woman who suffered from the delusion common to many wives, that once you have caught a man and dragged him to the altar and given your brand upon him that he is yours for keeps, and that there is no possible danger of his getting lost, strayed or stolen, tells me that her husband no longer loves her and that he wants her to give him a divorce.

She says that she knows it is her own fault, because she made no effort to hold him, or to make marriage a success with him. She let herself slump and get fat and frowsy. She doesn't think it worth while to dress up for a mere husband, or even to wash the cold cream off her face, and she went about in sloppy clothes, looking like something that had been dragged out of the ash can.

BABY TOOK FIRST PLACE

After the first baby came she was all mother and no wife. She gave all of her time and attention and caresses to Junior, and plainly let her husband see that he was of no importance in the home, except as a purveyor of good things to the children.

"I don't wonder that my husband resented the way I treated him," the woman went on tearfully, "because I wasn't a good wife. I wasn't a good companion. I wasn't even a good housekeeper. But I never thought he would quit loving me. And now he has, and I want to know how I can win him back and make him love me as he did in the old days."

Many wives who are too dull and stupid, or too inert and lazy, or too self-centred and selfish to make the effort necessary to hold their husbands' hearts when they had them in the hollow of their hands, ask this same question. But no one can tell them how to get back the treasure they have thrown away, or how to retrieve the error they have made. There is the case of locking the garage door after the husband has gone off joyriding with another woman, and is hitting it up along the broad highway. Which is always a futile proceeding.

Any wife who has the gumption to study her husband and find out how to rub his fur the right way and is willing to take the trouble, and do the work required to keep him purring under her hand can keep her husband in love with her. But once she has let him get away from her, there is no magic by which she can conjure him back.

You cannot recreate an illusion that has once been dispelled. You can't summon back a fascination that has lost its appeal. You cannot blow ashes that have burned themselves out into a flame again. You cannot compel emotions. When once a man has lost his taste for his wife, it is gone forever. A dead love is the deadest of all dead things. There is no resurrection for it.

There is hardly a one of the many forsaken wives, who are striving so pitifully and so helplessly to get back the husband they have so carelessly lost, who could not have prevented the tragedy if only they had tried as hard to keep their husbands charmed as they did to get them, and if they had been as agreeable companions after marriage as they were before. For love is one of the things in which an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure and a ton of repentance. It is easy to keep, but impossible to get back once we have lost it.

NAGGING, FRETTING KILLS

Every day we see wives killing their husbands' love by their nagging, by their fretting, by their pevish complaints, by making their home so uncomfortable for them that they flee from them as they would from purgatory. And we do not have to be prophets to foretell that before long these women are going to come and weep on our breasts and ask how they can get back the men they have driven away from them. And nobody but the good God—who doesn't work miracles for fools—can tell them that.

Nor is it women alone who kill love and then try to revive it. Husbands do the same thing. All about us we see husbands starving their wives' love to death by their neglect or killing it by their brutality, or stinginess, and not know that in a little while they will be complaining that their wives care nothing for them and regard them merely as meal tickets.

If husbands and wives devoted half as much time and trouble and thought to keeping their mates in love with them as they do to trying to win back the affection they have lost, there would be very few unhappy marriages. For marriage is never a failure as long as there is love in it. And love never dies as long as it is cherished and tended.

Concord grapes scent the air these days. Crush out their purple richness and combine with other fruits and sparkling water into thirst-quenching drinks.

SPARKLING GRAPEADE
(Serves 1)

Juice ½ lemon, 2 tablespoons sugar syrup, ¼ cup grape juice, sparkling water.

Pour lemon juice, grape juice and sugar syrup in a tall glass and stir well. Add ice cubes and fill glass with sparkling water. The amount of grape juice may be increased to ½ cup and the sugar syrup omitted.

SPARKLING GRAPE AND APPLE PUNCH
(Serves 8)

One cup apple juice, 1 cup grape juice, ¼ cup lemon juice, ½ cup crushed pineapple, 2/3 cup sugar syrup, mint or cherries.

Combine fruit juices and place in punch bowl containing a block of ice. Just before serving, add 1 quart of sparkling water. Garnish with mint or cherries.

EDITH BARBER'S GRAPE JUICE
(About 4 Quarts)

Ten pounds Concord grapes, 1 cup water, 3 pounds sugar.

Wash grapes and stem. Put grapes and water in large kettle and heat until seeds separate from pulp. Do not let fruit come to boil. Drain through jelly bag into kettle. Add sugar and stir over hot water until sugar is completely dissolved. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal completely. Lay jars on side in kettle filled with hot water (not boiling water) for five minutes.

Tomorrow's Menu

Dinner: Fruit cup, chicken croquettes with paprika sauce, green beans, enriched bread, butter, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, grape gelatine, coffee, milk.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

A large proportion of babies, whatever their daily care, do develop some degree of cradle cap. This is a scaly, oily crust, usually appearing on top of the head right over the "soft spot". It is quite often the result of extreme cleanliness in washing and exfoliating area. The mother is so fearful of putting any pressure upon it that she skates over it hastily, allowing it to become oily. The oil collects dirt until eventually the spot is both unsightly and odorous.

To combat cradle cap, wash the head well with soap and water. Some ointment, such as borax or even dry boric acid powder sprinkled on the damp cloth and rubbed over the surface, will help to loosen the crust. Dry carefully and rub on some warmed oil. Any baby oil will do, but a cold cream containing boric acid or borax is even more effective. Leave this oil on the head until the next shampoo period and then repeat the washing-oiling, continuing until the cradle cap is gone. Don't worry that any ordinary pressure will harm the baby.

If the scale returns again and again and continues until well past babyhood, the probability is that this is not ordinary cradle cap but is a form of eczema. Oiling the scalp will help remove the prevailing crust, but if the diet or the environmental factor offending the child remains the same, the scale will return. Eczema has this particular characteristic of re-appearance even though at times the crust or rash seems to be healed.

Any alert mother will be able to discover some foods, or some particular things to which the baby is exposed, which do not seem to agree with him. Milk at some time or another in his life may have seemed to upset the baby. In infancy it may have been a rash resulting from the inclusion of some new food. These clues may be valuable in determining what is causing a persistent eczemalous scalp crust. A change in the form of the foods, which are causing or have caused some digestive disturbance, may do more than oils or salves to end the troublesome crust.

For further discussion of eczema, send for my leaflet, "What Mothers Should Know About Eczema." With your request send a 4-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Points For Parents

By EDYTHE THOMAS WALLACE

Mother: "I clean the upper inner fold of baby's ear and behind it with these swabs dipped in oil but I never try to clean the ear canal."

Mother: "Give me a small hairpin, Grandma. It looks like there's some wax way deep in baby's ear and I want to try and get it out."

Farm Price Index At Highest Peak In Last 23 Years

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The index of farm prices has hit the highest peak in 23 years, the United States Agriculture Department reported yesterday. During the month ended Aug. 15, the index of prices received by farmers rose to 193 per cent of the base period (1909-14). This was a rise of five points above July and 30 points above a year ago.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

I hope you will not lose the benefit of the argument that came up on today's hand, because you can see all of the cards. First let me ask you to analyze the bidding. North supported spades, therefore, he must have three spades. South's opening lead was the king of spades. What should North play?

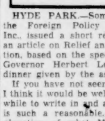

North, of course, does not know that South has six spades, and he may feel that it is important to tell his partner that he holds the spade queen. If North plays the nine of spades, should south continue with a spade?

Most of the experts were of the opinion that South should not continue the spade. South knows that the declarer cannot have another spade. East had also bid diamonds. If North holds the diamond king, the contract is automatically set. So it looks as if the only possible way to set the contract is to find North with the king of clubs. If South continues with a spade, declarer will ruff it, knock out the ace of diamonds and discard the losing club while he still holds the ace.

One group of players thought that the best play by North on the king of spades was the three-spot, and I am inclined to agree with him. The play of the three-spot not only tells partner not to continue the spade, but, by the suit-directing play, also asks partner to shift to a club.

My Day

BY ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

HYDE PARK.—Some time ago the Foreign Policy Association, Inc., issued a short report. It was an article on Relief and Rehabilitation, based on the speech made by Governor Herbert Lehman at a dinner given by the association.

If you have not seen this report, I think it would be well worth your while to write in and ask for it. It is such a reasonable, modest explanation of what Mr. Lehman's committee is doing and it gives us a comprehensive picture of what the United Nations must do in the future.

He explains the conditions that now exist and will exist for some time in Europe and Asia. He shows us that the care of civilian populations is a part of our military operations, because, frequently, it will make possible the successful carrying through of an undertaking which might otherwise cost many lives, and mean constant military supervision of dissatisfied people.

Governor Lehman bids us realize that it will be as harmful to approach the peace unprepared as it was to approach the war unprepared. It can, perhaps, cost civilians more serious set-backs, since hungry people are not apt to be able to devote themselves to constructive rehabilitation. Mr. Lehman points out, however, that our object and that of the United Nations must not merely be the relief which must first be given, but the provision of such things as will make the populations self-sustaining as quickly as possible.

It is merely "enlightened self-interest" to make people self-sustaining, because only in that way can trade begin again and only through trade can our nation get back its investment in relief and have an opportunity to build markets for new goods among the more prosperous people of the future.

The following lines should be remembered by us all, for they accent the fact that this is one of the ways to bring the war to an end more quickly.

"The war right now is costing the American taxpayer about a billion dollars every three days. Its cost in life and spiritual value is incalculable. The rehabilitation that the United States and other United Nations are prepared to extend relief and rehabilitation to the victims of war, and to sustain the spirit of resistance among the downtrodden people of Europe and Asia when the hour of freedom strikes, will help to transform those people into a cohesive group, ready and willing to co-operate in the battle of liberation. Should our readiness to bring relief to the weary peoples of Europe and Asia shorten the war by but a week or two, the United States will have saved far more on war costs, than the total outlays which can be anticipated in the field of relief and rehabilitation."

Bulletin Patterns

Jumper and Blouse

No side fastening needed with pattern 4543, only four small buttons to close one shoulder. The blouse slips over the head . . . no chance of being late for school with such simple made clothes. Use plaid or a dark shade for the jumper and make several blouses in gay colors, short and long sleeves.

Pattern 4543 comes in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8, 10. Size 10, jumper takes 2¼ yards 35-inch, blouse 1¼ yards.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Write plainly size, name, address, style number.

Send your order to Pattern Department, Edmonton Bulletin, 60 Front St. W., Toronto, Ont.

Please allow a week or ten days for delivery.

What To Do

How do I invite people to a simple luncheon and bridge?

Answer: Either telephone your guests a few days in advance or send them informal invitations as follows:

"Dear Jane

Will you have lunch with me on Thursday, the tenth, at one o'clock? We will play bridge afterwards.

I hope you can come, and look forward to seeing you.

Sincerely yours."

Impromptu luncheons, gotten together on the spur of the moment, are fun and very little trouble. Even with food rationing there are many things you can serve without sending your precious "points."

So don't hesitate to get your crowd together.

British Munitions Production Higher

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Capt. Oliver Lyttelton, minister of production, reported today that British aircraft production in terms of structural weight for the second quarter of 1943 increased 44 per cent over the same period a year ago. The total output for all munitions increased 25 per cent for the same period.

The finest-flavoured quick soup you've ever served. And it's so quickly and easily made, you'll want it always in your home. Just add contents of package to 4 cups of boiling water. Cook for 7 minutes. Then you can sit down to a smooth, satisfying, golden soup, so delicately seasoned and so appetizingly flavoured that you'll say it equals the best slow-simmered soup ever made on your own stove.

Lipton's Noodle Soup Mix is extremely economical . . . each package makes more good soup than that obtained from the average canned soup. Ask your grocer for it today.

Today You Need Healthful Food

GOOD FOOD is essential to good health—and never before was good health so important. Eat nourishing Grape-Nuts Flakes regularly, with milk, sometimes with fruit, too.

You see, Grape-Nuts Flakes is made from two grains—sun-ripened wheat and malted barley. So it provides high quality carbohydrates and proteins, useful quantities of iron and phosphorus, and other food essentials.

Decide now to make Grape-Nuts Flakes a "regular" on your breakfast table. Order from your grocer—either the regular package or the giant economy size.

The Personal Column

MEMBERS of the Canadian Women's Press Club, Edmonton branch, entertained at luncheon at the Macdonald hotel Monday in honor of Mrs. Richard Finlay, who leaves on Wednesday for Ottawa. Among the guests were Miss Lotta Dempsey, Canadian journalist and radio commentator, Mrs. Fisher and her father, Mr. Alexander Dempsy of London, Ont. Formerly of Edmonton, they are guests at the Macdonald hotel.

Chief Petty Officer L. M. Crozier, R.C.N.V.R., spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. D. A. Crozier, in Jasper Place, prior to rejoining his ship.

Dr. M. E. LaZerte, dean of the Faculty of Education at the University of Alberta, left the city Monday night for eastern Canada, where he will attend meetings of the Canada and Newfoundland Education Association and the Canadian Council of Educational Research taking place next week at the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec City. While in the east he will visit relatives at Iroquois, Ont.

Mrs. A. A. Nichols left the city at the week-end for Ottawa where she will spend several weeks visiting with her son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Allen Nichols.

Mrs. Z. Warbawskyi was guest-of-honor at a surprise party Friday evening. During the evening Mrs. Kenyzanowski presented the guest-of-honor with a gift. Following games refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Orzechowski and Mrs. H. Stocko. Other guests were Mrs. P. Kenyzanowski, Mrs. T. Domoroski, Mrs. J. Sarnecki, Mrs. Karpluk, Mrs. J. Komorniska, Mrs. Bartkiewicz, Mrs. H. Dombroski, Mrs. W. Niemarski, Mrs. Gorecki, Mrs. Dubell, Mrs. Solikoska, Mrs. Dudek, Mrs. A. Mahlin, Mrs. Yakimowicz, Mrs. W. Wyspinska, Mrs. Wrzesniak, Miss A. Kasminiuk, Mrs. Sematuk, Mrs. Lesyk, Mrs. W. Elnicki, Miss C. Kryshow and Miss Adeline Kryshow.

Miss Violet Cummings of Winnipeg, formerly of Edmonton, is visiting in the city. Miss Cummings is well known in the city as a soloist.

Mrs. Leo Carl Cruise of Seattle, Wash., the former Miss Cassie Mazurek, arrived in Edmonton Tuesday, accompanied by her small son, Lee, Jr. She will visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mazurek.

Members of the 20th Century club will gather Tuesday evening at the I.O.O.F. Temple, 103 street, to take up business for the month, and also to make arrangements for the annual dinner and dance. This will be the last meeting of the organization prior to the annual one.

When members of the Canadian Ukrainian Girls' Auxiliary meet Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Elock, 9442 100A street, they will discuss ways and means of sending comforts to the armed services overseas. New members are welcome.

The Experts Say ..

OTTAWA, Aug. 31. — (CP)— Pointers from the experts for housewives busy with wartime duties:

Mend and Save. — The Prices Board suggests that housewives keep needles and thread at hand these days, when conservation of clothes and furnishings is so important. If so far you haven't discovered needle and thread, the board suggests you look for some mending tape, which can be pressed on with a hot iron and will save time, in addition to prolonging the life of clothes and household articles.

"Mend it and save it," says the board, is today's conservation slogan.

Serve Vegetables.—For the next few weeks suggests Marion Harlow of Nutrition Services, housewives would do well to go one better than Canada's official food rules by using more than the two servings of vegetables the rules recommend for each day.

The fresh vegetables now being gathered from victory gardens and abundant on Canadian markets now are at the very peak of their goodness in nutritional and flavor values. Consequently, the recent order "freezing" stocks of canned vegetables is working to hardship on the average housewife, says Miss Harlow.

Versatile Cheese.—Delicious cottage cheese—so good with salads and a grand base for lunch box sandwiches—can easily be made at home from freshly-soured milk.

Only freshly-soured, clean-flavored milk should be used. The milk is poured on the top of a double boiler and heated until it separates into curds and whey. It should be stirred occasionally while heating.

The milk will separate when it reaches a temperature between 100 and 110 degrees Fahrenheit—a drop of milk placed on the wrist will feel lukewarm at this temperature. When the milk has separated, place a double layer of cheesecloth in a strainer and strain off the whey.

Wash the cheese under running cold water and squeeze dry. Put the curd in a bowl, mix well with a fork, season with salt and pepper and moisten with a little top milk or cream.

The whey, says Miss Pepper contains valuable food elements, and can be combined with fruit or vegetable juice to make a satisfying nutritious cold drink.

FORT OGLETHORPE Ga., Aug. 31. — (AP) — Sergeant Mary Churchill, 20-pound daughter of Britain's prime minister, arrived here Monday night for an indefinite visit with the Women's Army Corps, the American counterpart of the Auxiliary Territorial Service in which she is a junior officer. She flies from Quebec.

Sweetpeas and summer flowers were arranged throughout the room at the home of Mrs. D. Stevenson, when she in conjunction with Mrs. J. Stollery, Miss Jean Lang, and Mrs. M. Cable held a shower recently in honor of Miss Gladys Polley a bride-elect of early September. Miss Polley was presented with a lovely chest of silver and a piece of silverware. There were about 25 guests present.

Mrs. Lowell Beauregard with her small son Tony, is in the city from Wells, B.C., and is a guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. F. Bruce Wilson. She is also visiting with her husband, AC Ernest Bellavance, stationed at No. 3 M.T. Depot.

Wren Luella Griffith, who has been spending a furlough with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Griffith, 8305 118 avenue, has returned to Ottawa to resume duties with the Women's Canadian Naval Service.

Mrs. J. N. Gosselin is spending a few days holidaying at Sebo Beach.

Flying Officer the Rev. L. E. W. Thompson, R.C.A.F., recently returned from overseas who has been visiting with his parents, the Rev and Mrs. R. McEleo Thompson, will leave Wednesday night for eastern Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Cameron, after spending the last five weeks in Banff where Mr. Cameron has been directing the Banff School of Fine Arts summer school, were in Calgary at the week-end en route to Saskatoon to spend a short time.

Flying Officer Charles Mitchell of Edmonton was among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding in Calgary Saturday, of Miss Margaret Willan and Flying Officer Robert Kenneth Mitchell of Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gregg and daughter, Dorothy, of Fort Selkirk, Yukon, left Sunday night for the Pacific coast after visiting in Edmonton, the guests of Mrs. Gregg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bule.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Barnette have returned to their home in the city after visiting in eastern Canada. Mr. Barnett attended the annual meeting of the Canadian Teachers' Federation at St. John's. While in the east Mr. and Mrs. Barnett visited with their daughters Mis Ronald Gaunce in Montreal and Mrs. C. S. Matthews in Toronto.

Miss Lorene Maguire left Sunday for Vancouver where her wedding to Richard Swabey Twining of Victoria was arranged to take place Monday at 2:30 p.m. in the chapel of Christ church cathedral. Miss Maguire was formerly on the teaching staff of Victoria High school.

Miss Edith Hilton was hostess at a shower held at her home Monday evening, when guest-of-honor was Miss Janet Watson whose marriage is to take place soon. Guests included: Miss Frances Freeman, Miss Mabel Asch, Mrs. R. Coles, Miss Enid Bullock, Miss Bessie Brown, Miss Margaretta Trudel, Miss Virginia Knaughton, Miss Marjorie Pike, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Dorothy Morris and Mrs. Jessie Kirby.

Const. Donald Smith, R.C.M.P., and Mrs. Mona Richards, of Amherst, N.S., who have been visiting with Const. Smith's parents Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Smith until last Wednesday evening, to return to the east. Cpl. John Smith, R.C.A.F., who has also been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Smith will leave on Friday to return to his station at Camp Borden.

Mr. and Mrs. Loall Esplin, the former Miss Marjorie Dagg, after spending several days visiting with Mrs. Esplins parents Mr. and Mrs. C. Blake Dagg, left the city Monday for Jasper and the Pacific Coast.

BANKED IN BIBLE

LONDON.—(CP)—Most treasured possession of an 83-year-old woman admitted to a home for the poor was a Bible—and for more reasons than one. An official of the home revealed that when the woman was undergoing medical treatment $1,240 was discovered stowed away between the leaves of the book.

EDMONTON WOMAN, FIVE SISTERS, HOLD REUNION IN WINNIPEG

Mrs. John MacDonald Hartt, Edmonton, well known social service worker and club woman in the city, is pictured here in the front row, third from the left, with five of her sisters. The family held a reunion recently in Winnipeg at the home of Mrs. A. Dunlop (front row, first from left). Five of the sisters made special trips from points in Canada, to make complete the first reunion in 25 years. Born in Mansfield, Nova Scotia, Cumberland County, they are the daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Thompson formerly of Oxford, N.S. Two brothers, John Gillis Thompson, Winnipeg, and Edward O. Thompson, Dugald, were also present. Two others were unable to attend. In the picture are, left to right in front row: Mrs. A. Dunlop, Winnipeg; Mrs. W. F. Fowle, Regina, Sask.; Mrs. John MacDonald Hartt, Edmonton. Left to right in the back row: Mrs. R. J. Steele, St. Catherines, Ont.; Mrs. Charles Davies, Dugald, Man.; Mrs. L. F. Gibson, Brandon, Man.

Dutch Socks Made of Linen

MONTREAL, Aug. 31 — An indication of the great scarcity of wool in the Netherlands is given by an advertisement recently appearing in a Dutch paper, offering "clog socks made of white linen and strong as iron". From time immemorial heavy woollen socks have been deemed by Netherlands the only thing suitable for wear in their heavy wooden shoes.

"The Nationale Dagblad" recently said that many factories for woollen garments, have opened repair departments for under wear, socks and stockings. Owing to shortage of material, customers receive four repaired articles back for every five sent in.

WEEKLY WARTIME NUTRITION HINTS

by Martha Logan

Meat en Brochettes

Have you tried cooking 1-inch cubes of lamb shoulder this way? Push the pieces of lamb on to wood or metal skewers till skewer is filled—season—brush with melted fat. Broil or pan-broil under a hot broiler or on a hot pan for 10 minutes; turn and cook for 5 minutes more. Serve on a bed of rice with barbecue sauce. That is the standard "en brochette" procedure. But the same cooking method can be used both to introduce the nutritionally-so-desirable variety meats into the diet—try slices of parboiled beef kidney or liver between the cubes of lamb—and to give interest to meat leftovers. Almost any previously cooked meat can be used to "extend" fresh meat on skewers. Or, in fact, can be used alone with suitable vegetables. mushrooms, parboiled tender young carrots, small, firm tomatoes, pieces of peppers, or with variety meats as suggested above. This is another dodge—so useful in wartime—for dressing up quite ordinary materials to give a festive feeling.

"Meat Complete" is the hardest book to mess cookery we have ever had," so say hundreds of Canadian housewives. Send 10c for your copy to Swift Canadian Co. Limited, Dept. EC37, Edmonton.

PAN BROILING

I.T.S. Grads To Hold Dance

Members of the women's auxiliary class to No. 4 I.T.S., R.C.A.F., will be guests of honor at a dance, young people's social evening, to be held in the auditorium of the National school. Special guests will be Wing Commander Scott Macpherson, R.C.A.F., officer commanding No. 4 I.T.S. and Mrs. Macpherson.

Receiving more than 100 airmen and their partners will be the patronesses, Mrs. R. E. McArthur and Mrs. P. Greenaway. Music for the affair will be provided by the No. 4 I.T.S. dance orchestra.

The Women's Auxiliary of No. 4 I.T.S. under the direction of Mrs. F. A. Wyatt is in charge of the refreshments. Hostesses will be members of the Hostess club of No. 4 I.T.S.

Food Conference Has High Ideals

LONDON, Aug. 31 (CP)—An article in the authoritative medical journal Lancet struck the cautious note that proposals of the Hot Springs, U.S.A., food conference to give the world a basic diet "may seem a little Utopian 30 years hence".

"There are millions in India, Africa and China," it said, "who have never known anything but malnutrition and semi-starvation, yet it is rash to assume those people will welcome the proposals of the planners of plenty."

Even educated people distrust new foods and dislike having their diets changed, much more so the ignorant. It is useless to import dried milk into countries . . . the assimilation of foods under a scientific ration was studied [illegible]. An additional difficulty is that in the more philoprogenitive nations [illegible] increase of food is apt to mean an increase in population which tends to bring the people down again to the bare subsistence level [illegible] freedom from want is a fine ideal but freedom from malaria and freedom from syphilis are equally desirable.

C.N.R. Moves Record Load of Bacon for Export to Britain

MONTREAL, Aug. 31—For the first seven months of this year, the Canadian National Railways has transported 179,610,587 pounds of choice Canadian export bacon, according to figures just compiled by J. L. Townshend, general supervisor of perishable traffic for the National system. This is 13,736,987 pounds more than that handled during the similar period of 1942. Each car contained an average of 52,500 pounds, requiring 3,454 refrigerator cars to move this year's traffic which took the product of 1,495,755 Wiltshire hogs.

Last year the Canadian National Railways transported 260,685,373 pounds of bacon, the bulk of which was shipped overseas as "bacon for Britain." This movement represented 4,918 carloads. The cars used included the new overhead ice refrigerator cars pioneered by mechanical and operating experts of the National System. "Since these reefers first came into service meat, fish, fruit and other perishable commodities have moved for long distances and have arrived at destination in perfect condition," Mr. Townshend said.

TODAY'S MARKETS

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Aug. 31—(CP)—The gold stocks pushed forward to record substantial gains in today's Toronto Exchange market. The industrials also firmed slightly and the other groups posted insignificant index losses. Turnover for the day was fairly heavy at about 560,000 shares.

Navy Scholarship

David C. Mather, 16, son of W. A. Mather, vice-president of western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, Winnipeg, and Mrs. Mather, has been awarded one of five $1,000 scholarship provided by the Navy League of Canada to Sea Cadets standing highest in their examinations. The scholarship carries with it entrance to the Royal Canadian Naval College, Royal Roads, B.C. The Navy League this year for the first time provided these scholarships among members of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps for entrance to Royal Naval colleges.

Wheat Futures Advance Slightly

WINNIPEG, Aug. 31—(CP)—Wheat futures advanced ⅛ to ½ cent a bushel today on the Winnipeg grain exchange. October closed at 1.09⅝.

Trade was good in the pit with exporters, shippers, commission houses and mills making fair purchases. Most of the buying was in connection with a 500,000 bushel export business to Portugal and shipments to eastern feeders.

Some American and local selling crept into the market at the opening but hedging generally was light.

Rye was the only coarse grain future active but business was minor and local.

Cash wheat trade was on a fair scale with shippers and exporters taking 300,000 bushels of Nos. 7, 2 and 3 Northern, and eastern feeders 500,000 bushels of Nos. 4 and 4 Northern. A good enquiry existed for cash coarse grains but no sales were confirmed.

Country wheat marketings yesterday amounted to 936,000 bushels compared with 333,000 bushels last year.

LONDON STOCKS

LONDON, Aug. 31—(AP)—The stock market was more active today and held a generally firm undertone at the close. Industrials were mainly in the higher brackets along with home rails, oils and most of the rubbers. Buying from Cape Town continued to bolster Kaffirs and diamonds. International securities were quiet. British funds showed selective improvement.

Killed in Action

Pte. Herbert Clayton Jones, 21 years old, who has been reported killed in action in Sicily, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones, 5402 118 avenue. Pte. Jones was born in England and came to Canada with his parents when he was two years old. He was educated at the Highlands Public school and the Edmonton Technical school. He was employed at Coutts Machinery Company before enlisting at the age of 19. He trained at the west coast and went overseas last September. Pte. Jones was well known in sports circles in the city and in Y.M.C.A. activities. He has a sister in the C.W.A.C. stationed at Winnipeg and also a brother-in-law in the R.C.A.F.

Before the Magistrate

Roy McNeill, pleading guilty to charges of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, and operating an auto at a time when his right to operate such a vehicle was suspended, was sentenced by Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., Tuesday morning, to 30 days on the first count, and a further three months with hard labor on the second.

The prisoner had first been seen at the South Side auto camp about 5 a.m. Monday, the court was told. Twenty minutes later, he became involved in an accident when the auto he was driving crashed into the rear of another car waiting for a street car to discharge passengers.

The accused had then driven away from the scene of the accident, in which no one had been injured, and was noticed about 10 minutes later at 104 street and 102 avenue, still in the car.

The prisoner stated that only on Monday he had heard his crop was ready to cut, and as there was no one to look after things, he sought the court's indulgence.

He was reminded by the magistrate that he had been convicted in 1942 for driving while intoxicated when his driver's license was suspended for one year, in June of this year he had been convicted of dangerous driving and, in July, there had been a conviction for driving while intoxicated.

"That means four months," explained Mr. Miller, as he passed consecutive sentence and ordered that the accused's privilege of driving anywhere in Canada be suspended for one year.

R. T. Cooper, found guilty of breaches of the excise and liquor acts, was fined $50 and costs or two months, and $20 and costs or 30 days, respectively, on separate charges. Confiscation was ordered of cigarettes and liquor found in his possession.

R.C.M.P., in searching the premises of the accused, found 1,100 American cigarettes on which no duty had been paid, and two bottles of whiskey.

Defence counsel replied that his client had been in Saskatoon and brought back the liquor with him. So far as the cigarettes were concerned, these had been given to him by American friends at one time and another.

John McLean Gillis helped himself to two bottles of lemon extract from a departmental store groceteria, Monday afternoon. He was stopped at the door of the store. Two days before, in the same store, he was observed taking a bottle of the extract, the court was told.

The accused had been here since June, and when he arrived, had $600 in his possession. He now asked to be given an opportunity to get work, and was told he had had a chance to work if he had wanted it.

"You came here with $600 and blew it in," said the magistrate. "Now you steal and drink extract."

He was giving the accused a chance to straighten up so he could go to work, said Mr. Millar, as he sentenced him to 30 days with hard labor in Fort Saskatchewan jail.

Hannah Stewart pleaded not guilty to the charge of intoxication, was found guilty, acknowledged a previous conviction, and was sentenced to three months with hard labor. The court was told how the accused had been observed at the South Side in an auto camp, and how, one hour later, was seen staggering down the street. She had been in court time after time, and in jail several times, said Mr. Millar, who reminded her that she was given a chance before, to go to the country and get something to do.

Hon. Brig. Nelligan Gets Decoration

OTTAWA, Aug. 31—(CP)—Hon. Brig. C. L. Nelligan, principal Roman Catholic chaplain to the Canadian forces, is among 348 officers and other ranks of the Canadian Army who have been awarded non-combattant decorations and medals for long service, the defence department announced today. Brig. Nelligan receives the Canadian efficiency decoration.

ALLEY OOP

Ottawa Issues Twelfth Sicily Casualty List

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Issuance last night of the 12th official list of Canadian (Active) Army casualties suffered in the Sicily campaign, containing 67 names, brought to 1,145 the total of Canadian casualties in Sicily thus far made public.

Last night's list—the 352nd army casualty list of the war—listed three other ranks killed in action, two had died during the campaign, one who died of accidental injuries, three officers reported as wounded, 56 other ranks reported as wounded, and one officer and one other rank also wounded but who have remained on duty.

NO OFFICERS KILLED

No officers were reported killed in action or having died of wounds. The mention of members of the Canadian Army in Sicily having been wounded but remaining on duty was the first made since issuance of the first list some days ago.

The list gives the name of one officer, Lieut. Warren Stuart Dunfield, 31, of Toronto, who is dangerously wounded. He is with the Royal Canadian Artillery. His aunt, Miss C. Dunfield, lives in Toronto.

The three other ranks killed in action were all serving with an Alberta regiment. One who died of wounds was serving with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals and the other with the Canadian Armored Corps.

Canadian Dental Corps Marks Its Fourth Anniversary

On the eve of its fourth anniversary, the Canadian Dental Corps pays tribute to a band of dental officers who braved Axis guns to give "on the spot" treatment to Canadian troops participating in the Sicily campaign. Right view, duplicated perhaps in Sicily, shows dental officers giving speedy and effective relief to soldiers in a dental "office" under canvas. Brig. Frank Lott, shown at left, organized the corps a week before war broke out in 1939 and is at present director of dental services.

Child Welfare Group Submits Training Plan

tion and institutional care" was the second recommendation made.

Natural family ties were urged preserved whenever possible, and that when going into a foster home, every child should be placed in one of his own religious faith, and where the foster parents would be about the same age as the child's own parents.

The use of the social service exchange and the whole community service program for studying cases and for safeguarding children's own homes, was recommended.

Whichever line of treatment is attempted, the study should indicate what special safeguards are necessary for a child within the environment in which he or she is left, or to which he or she is being sent, it was suggested.

Limitation of the amount of work expected of each child welfare worker in line with accepted standards was advised.

Each worker in the child welfare branch was recommended to be responsible for approximately 65 cases requiring supervision of placement.

PRECISE POLICIES

Development of precise policies regarding discharge of responsibility for child welfare cases in accordance with standard rules and procedures, was a fifth recommendation.

It was further suggested that there should be a clear-cut policy showing the respective responsibilities of the provincial child welfare branch and the civic children's aid departments.

Anyone who has taken a thoughtful interest in Alberta's child welfare services must be well aware that the present program has developed over a long period of time. Complete overnight changes cannot be reasonably expected, yet procrastination is to be avoided.

A system of case records, monthly and annual statistics in conformity with accepted standards, was proposed, the main purpose of all case recording being to provide better service to families and children.

A child's situation can be far more carefully analysed if described objectively in a record available to supervisors and psychiatrists. His progress over a long period can only be observed through continuous recording, stated the committee.

POLICY ON ADOPTIONS

The adoption of Alberta children outside the province only when the adopting homes have been studied and approved by child welfare agencies of good standards and when placements can be supervised by such agencies, was another recommendation made.

Each child should be accessible to the supervision of the department, for medical care, religious and educational instruction, and each child over six years of age should be visited once in two months and pre-school children oftener.

There was to be no resumption of seasonal campaigns for adoption, said a further recommendation.

A residential observation centre for the study of children with special behaviour difficulties, and that consideration be given to the future development of such a centre, was suggested.

It was recommanded, also, that juvenile courts equipped to carry on study and treatment of delinquents in accordance with accepted standards. Including use of the social service exchange and community service programs and with emphasis upon reconstructing the delinquent's own home for him, wherever possible.

GUARD FAMILY UNITY

Wherever possible, it was urged the juvenile court should try to safeguard the unity of the delinquent's family by providing a case work service while the delinquent remains in the home or in preparation for his return to the home.

It was further asked that foster family care for delinquents be adopted only when this type of treatment is recommended after thorough study, including psychiatric consultation.

Foster homes should be selected and supervised according to standard rules and procedures and used only when the court, on the basis of psychiatric advice, believes that a private family placement will meet the special requirements of the individual delinquent, it was suggested.

Establishment of a school with educational and clinical facilities for delinquents, who on the basis of adequate study and testing, are shown to need such care, was recommended and eventual establishment of a training school urged given serious consideration.

The official rejection of any plan for custodial care of delinquents, unless it includes opportunity for study and treatment in accordance with accepted standards, and, in particular, the rejection of any jail personnel, program or equipment to be used for such a purpose, was asked.

The establishment of an institution along purely custodial lines should be discouraged, it was stated.

FURTHER CHANGES

Further suggested were such changes in detention homes as will equip them to study and observe the behavior of the delinquents.

Such changes in detention centres as will eventually equip them to carry on observation services in co-operation with provincial psychiatrists, should be encouraged, stated the committee.

Retention of the present age limit for juvenile delinquents was suggested. The present age limit should not be lowered.

Gradual extension of the facilities at the provincial training school at Red Deer, was asked.

Plans should be laid for this gradual extension order to provide care and protection for defective children who would otherwise remain on a waiting list, it was urged.

The fact that a child belongs to this group can be established only through psychometric and psychiatric examinations, it was stated. The defective-delinquent should not be placed in a training school for delinquents.

Selection of child welfare workers and juvenile court workers on the basis of qualifications to perform services in accordance with standard rules and procedures, was lastly recommended.

EMPLOY QUALIFIED PERSONS

It was asked that the provincial government develop and maintain a policy of employing in its child welfare program only persons qualified to perform services in accordance the standard rules and procedures, and, in order to safeguard the policy, should require that every child welfare worker be a graduate from a school of social work or have training equivalent to, an academic education, plus experience in a child welfare agency using standard methods.

Navy Casualties

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—The Royal Canadian Navy, in its 197th casualty list of the war, reported last night that two ratings, Telegraphist John Seeton MacLauchlan, of Westmount, Que., and Ordinary Seamen Leo Paul Cadotte, of Montreal, had died in Canada.

London's Holborn viaduct, opened by Queen Victoria in 1869, was the first important over-pass bridge to be built.

Couple Injured As Motorcycle Runs Into Auto

Mr. and Mrs. Robert DesMarias, 9619 106 street, were in hospital Monday as the result of a motorcycle and auto collision at 107 street and 82 avenue, at 9:45 p.m. Sunday. The former, suffering from shock, was believed to have received a broken shoulder. Mrs. DesMarias was said to have received scratches and bruises to the face.

Harry Morgan, 10756 82 avenue, told police he had been driving his auto north of 107 street, and turned west at 82 avenue. As he completed the turn, he and his wife, together in the vehicle, felt a severe bump at the rear of their car.

HEARD WOMAN SCREAM

When they heard a woman scream, they stopped the car and got out, and found a man, woman and a motorcycle laying in the road.

Rushing into St. Joseph's hospital for aid, Morgan said he returned to find that the man had been picked up by a passing motorist and taken to University hospital. The injured woman was taken into St. Joseph's hospital on an ambulance. She was moved to University hospital in a Smith's ambulance.

According to the autoist, the cycle was not seen, nor had he or his wife any knowledge of what had happened until the collision occurred.

Interviewed in hospital, Mrs. DesMarias told police she had been riding behind her husband on the motorcycle, west on 82 avenue. She saw the auto in front of them, she said, and then they had run into the rear of it.

DesMarias stated he thought he had been operating the cycle at between 15 and 20 miles an hour. He had not seen the car, he said, and had no idea of what happened.

Kiwanians Guests HBC at Luncheon

About 100 members of the Kiwanis club were guests of the Hudson's Bay Company store at a luncheon held in the Empire Room on Monday noon.

H. Brock Smith, on behalf of the store welcomed the Kiwanians. He referred to the store's association with Edmonton since 1794. Congratulations were extended to the newly-appointed lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis for Alberta, W. G. Strachan.

Members were divided into groups for the luncheon, with each table being in charge of a departmental manager or store assistant.

Following the luncheon, the members of the club were conducted about the store, where they were shown "behind the scenes."

Auto Is Damaged When Horse Bolts

A street car that struck a buggy at 97 street and 103 avenue about 5.10 p.m., Monday, caused the horse to bolt and damage a parked car. E. A. Bellamy, 9514 109 avenue, told city police he was driving his horse north of 97 street and when at 103 avenue, the rear steps of the tram caught the buggy, swinging the light conveyance about, and scaring the horse which jumped and bolted. Glass showered about as the steed pushed one foot through the door window of the parked car.

All Branches Of Air Force Need Recruits

Touring Canada, and in particular the western provinces, Wing-Cmdr. R. E. Horsfield, assistant director of manning at Ottawa, visiting Edmonton Monday, said that the Royal Canadian Air Force is in need of men now more than ever before. Pilots, bombers, gunners and all branches of the air force are asking for enlistments.

Wing-Cmdr. Horsfield was former officer commanding the Vancouver recruiting centre. From here he will go to Saskatoon and Winnipeg.

When referring to enlistment, he also explained that besides needing men, the air force is asking for women to join the women's division. Several thousand women are needed, and thus far all across Canada, the progress of recruiting is slow.

RECENT FIGURES LOW

With reference to the recent figures on enlistment, he said that they are low. "We have noticed that when the Allied nations gain a victory, recruiting takes a decided drop, and when we suffer a defeat, recruits are plentiful," he said. He explained further that when a victory has been attained, the Air Force needs recruits as badly as ever.

This branch of the service is taking a new step in methods of recruiting, and Wing-Cmdr. Horsfield's trip is also concerned with seeing the effect throughout Canada. The Canadian Air Force has taken the policy of putting the onus of recruiting up to one's own honor and self respect by telling civilians who should enlist, bluntly what they are thought of. He thinks this policy of advertising is working well.

When asked if he thought the Air Force will have a draft call similar to the army, Wing-Cmdr. Horsfield said that it would not.

"My Girls are the real Glamour Girls"

"I've never been one to think that clothes make the man—or the girl either, for that matter. That goes for uniforms too.

"It's what they represent that's glamourous to me. And that's why I say my three girls—and all the other girls in the armed forces—are the real glamour girls today. They know there's a war on.

"Those uniforms of navy, khaki and air force blue are smart—but they tell the bigger story of women doing an important job.

"I'll never forget how proud I felt when I found that my girls were eager to do their share, and were not content to stay at home and let others do it for them."

CHAPTER II

ONE day in August I was admitted to the Brooklyn Navy Yard, a United States Marine.

The first six months are the hardest.

By Thanksgiving I was so discouraged that I had made up my mind to go to Portsmouth A. W. O. L., not, however, until after dinner, which was to be turkey and all the trimmings. When I went to the gate to check out for liberty, the officer of the day snapped, "No liberty. All marines stand by to embark for Nicaragua."

On board the U.S.S. Dixie was Major Neville. He was astonished to see me and promised to watch how I was getting on. Down the coast we sailed toward the Spanish Main, scrubbing, scrubbing, washing all the way. Before we were a couple of days at sea, I had made skeleton keys to the galley and pantry. Midnight raids on the supplies made me popular with the other leathernecks and I was soon the unofficial locksmith of the expedition.

When we steamed into Corinto Bay, the U.S.S. Yorktown and the U.S.S. Albany, our flagship, were waiting for us.

For two weeks we were not allowed to go ashore, so we looked at the sandy coast that tapered inland to scrubby dunes dotted with huts built in the trees and watched the "Spicks" running about the shore. They came alongside in their "bumboats," selling bananas, oranges, guavas. The only business they understood was the barter system. Money did not interest them, but they would trade all the fruit we could eat for a knife or fork or spoon from our mess gear. Larger financial deals were made for pearls and gold nuggets. A pair of shoes bought a large pair of trousers a medium one, and we could get a shirt for a khaki shirt.

But wasn't capturing President Zelaya's ragged army of 10,000 dressed in the uniforms of the 1st? He must have bought them in the rummage sales of Europe soldiers were the only iguanas who owned clothes before the coming of the marines.

At 2 o'clock one morning our company was awakened to make a landing. The ship was darkened. With huge muffling we rolled and packed our hankets and lined up for chow. Then pushed off in the landing boats and rowed to the beaches. Again Gullick ordered us to strip up the beach away from the edge of Corinto. Gray dawn found us sunup. By noon we were creeping through the scorching, shuffling along in the sand so that we had to stop every once in a while to take off our legs and high shoes and shake it out no sign of Zelaya and his army had disappeared without a

As for myself, he slipped aboard a small Mexican gunboat in the bay and stayed there under the guns. We could have blown him out of the water with a good stiff breeze, but we couldn't buck international law, so we lay there and sailed with our glasses trained on the gunboat while we waited for ships from Washington. One morning we found the harbor empty the gunboat had slipped away the night.

One torrid summer night, after the pajamas had made up his money, I was stationed in the small room outside the cage which housed the safe. Toward morning, when my eyes were weary from the strain of keeping on the alert, I felt it should perish if I did not have a drink of water.

There was no way to communicate with the corporal of the guard who blocked me in, so I slicked the door, took on board a glass of water, and hastened back to the door. To my horror, I saw that there was no way to lock the door from the inside. The time for relief was near. With sharpened pocket knife, I cut a sliver from the belt strap that held my gun holster, slipped it between the door and jamb and shut the door.

Along came the old corporal of the guard and tried to kick in his key. It failed to work. He turned, and, of course, kicked the door which then unlocked easily. When he pushed the door open, he never noticed the tiny strip of leather that to fell in the door on his way to the guardhouse. He looked at me with a wry grin.

"Charley," he said, "that door was open all the time. We'd have caught hell if the officer of the day had come along and tried it."

"Heh" was an understatement. As I saw the look of distress in his eyes and felt the icicles creeping down my own back, I resolved that hereafter I would make my fingers behave.

In my fourth year I went up for examination and was made a corporal. On Aug. 24, 1915, I was honorably discharged, finished with soldiering and ready to set out upon my own business. I have never outlived the pride of being a marine. The ideals of the service had become so ingrained that they have been the guiding principles of my life, the testing rod by which I measure my conduct, remembering that I must bring honor to the service. Yes, the marines had given me a set of ethics and a standard. They had made a man of me.

St. Vitus Dance—The medical word for this disorder is "Chorea," which comes from the Greek and means dancing. It is the name given to disordered, incoordinate, spasmodic and involuntary movements. "Chorea Santi Viti", was the name given in the middle ages to an epidemic of dancing mania which attacked people under the influence of great religious excitement and led to pilgrimages to the chapel of St. Vitus in the hope of being cured.

This disorder occurs most often in early childhood and adolescence, more than three-fourths of the cases developing between the fifth and fifteenth years. It is singular in that it occurs more often among girls and among the offspring of the poorer classes.

The schoolchild who has been made nervous by overwork at school is a fit subject for chorea and, in fact, for many other disorders when the toxins from injudicious holiday stuffing add their burden to the child's irritated, nervous system.

The disordered and jerky movements are the first symptoms. The child may be restless, mentally disturbed, easily upset, and break into fits of crying or temper. The jerky movements are usually noticed first on the face and arms. The face will twist into a series of contorted grimaces, in which the eyes may shut and suddenly shoot open. The angle of the mouth may change quickly, or the whole head may flop from side to side. There may be a specific and involuntary working of the hands and arms, and, if the patient tries to grasp anything, he is inclined to grab for it and may close his hand before he reaches the object. As the disorder progresses, the child's body may twitch in various places almost continually during the entire day. Usually the movements either disappear or decrease during sleep.

I have never seen a case of chorea which could not be cured and usually in a very short time. The toxic condition which is always present must first be corrected. Here again the orange juice fast is of great value and should be used for several days even with very young children. They should be kept away from all studies and taught to play games which are not overly exciting. The best diet after the fast is usually a course of milk diet treatment, take three or four quarts daily, according to the age, for as long as three or four weeks. After this the diet should be well balanced with special attention to complete bowel elimination.

The child will always be greatly helped through osteopathic or chiropractic treatments which tend to quiet and soothe the nervous system.

The quickest results, of course, come in those cases where an early diagnosis is made and treatment started at once. Naturally the time necessary to effect a cure is materially lengthened in those cases which have been permitted to go in advanced stages before treatment is started.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

The term, "Scotland Yard," has been popularly applied to the London police and detective headquarters, but they are no longer at Scotland Yard. Many years ago they were housed in a group of buildings bearing this name, which was derived from a palace which once stood there and was used for visiting Scotch royalty in London. London police headquarters are now on the Thames embankment, but most people still prefer to call the headquarters "Scotland Yard."

Premier Ernest Manning Says Mortgage Companies Yield Rights to Titles

Having schemed against and fought provincial debt legislation until they succeeded in rendering it inoperative, the mortgage companies who sacrificed their equities by refusing to pay the overdue taxes during the depression years, now find that they are thwarted from foreclosing on those farms, or in other words, have surrendered their rights to titles by their own action, Premier Ernest Manning declared in an address here Monday night.

He said that in order to assist farmers whose taxes were in arrears, the government had arranged for a system of tax consolidation which enabled them to consolidate unpaid taxes for a reduced amount to be paid off gradually.

The premier also announced a Dominion-wide series of addresses to keep the public informed.

Complete text of his address follows:

I am sure you realize that in our fight for freedom from financial tyranny we must reach out to help our fellow Canadians across the Dominion to obtain reliable information on the vital issues we face and to help them to organize in building the new democracy which alone will give them a worth-while post-war order. This we intend to do—and I am confident that all who can will help in this most important work.

Now tonight I propose to resume my report on the work of the various departments of government by discussing some of the more important aspects of local or municipal administration.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

Municipal government is an integral part of our British system and is a necessary mechanism in a democracy. Before you can have a properly functioning democracy you must provide the means for giving the people the results they want. There are certain matters of a purely local nature upon which the people in each locality should decide.

For example the people in a certain district or city may want a particular kind of road or certain facilities for insuring a proper water supply. These would be purely local matters—results which the people in that city or district wanted. Provided that they had the means for obtaining them and that this would not interfere with the right of the people in other districts to determine their own purely local affairs, they should have the facilities for getting the results they want.

MIGHT BE DISAPPOINTED

Now, if such matters had to be decided by the representatives of the people for the whole province, then you could get a situation in which the wishes of the people in a district to have a local road might be set aside—even though they were willing to pay for it and do the necessary work. And because they would have no effective power over the government body who made the decision, their democratic right in the matter would be made ineffective.

Therefore it is necessary to have local governments elected and controlled by the people in a locality to give effect to the will of those people in purely local affairs which do not affect the rest of the province.

THEIR RESPONSIBILITY

But if this is to be effective then the people must assume their responsibilities in this field of government, as in others. For example, it is not possible to have a properly functioning system of local government if only a small percentage of the electorate bothers to vote at municipal elections, as is too often the case. Ladies and gentlemen, sometimes not more than 10 per cent. of electors exercise their franchise in municipal elections—but the 90 per cent. who have to put up with the consequences have the remedy in their own hands.

Now the question arises how large or how small should our municipal units be. This can be determined only by considering all the facts. On the one hand the size of a municipality should be such that the people in it can exercise effective control over their local government. On the other hand it must be sufficiently large to ensure the maximum efficiency in administration. The county system of England —which has been adopted in Ontario—is an ideal example of how, through actual experience, units of local government have been developed to meet the varying requirements of different districts.

NOW DEVELOPING

Here in Alberta our local government system is still in the process of development. Originally when municipalities were established there were few roads, transportation and communication were difficult and local services, such as schools and hospitals, were either non-existent or very inadequate. To meet these difficulties and the problems they presented it was necessary to make municipalities as small as possible without consideration for the maximum efficiency of administration in the future.

As time went on the results of this policy became increasingly evident. If anything in the nature of a localized disaster occurred—such as a hailstorm, drought, or grasshopper plague—the small municipality found it most difficult to carry on, whereas had the unit of administration been more extensive the effects of the local disaster could have been equalized without undue hardship.

In the rural areas one of the most important matters within the sphere of municipal administration is the construction and maintenance of secondary, market roads. Small municipal units naturally tend to a lack of co-ordination in road development, and in addition experience has shown that a small municipal unit either could not afford the road machinery necessary to give its people the best results or, if they did purchase machinery at some sacrifice then the outlay was not justified by the work it could do in a restricted area; the machinery had to stand idle for periods when it could have been in use. In fact, because of the limitations of a small unit, efficiency in administration was being seriously impaired and the people were the losers.

SMALL UNITS

At the last provincial election your government asked for and obtained a mandate to deal with the problem of the small municipal unit by combining several of them to form a unit of a size sufficient to ensure the maximum efficiency without reducing the effectiveness of the people's local autonomy.

After we obtained the necessary mandate much preparatory work had to be done, but the work is now well underway and the results to date have already demonstrated the advantages to the people concerned.

The reorganization and management of our municipal districts will enable a road program to be coordinated as between large municipalities and as between different divisions of the same municipality. Generally speaking the department of public works is responsible in all municipalities for any main highway that passes through the municipal district, and for certain other secondary highways, such as market roads, the roads that get our farmers onto these main highways, are the responsibility of the local municipal council.

LAUDS SYSTEM

Through the reorganization and enlargement of the municipalities, cheaper and more efficient administration can be brought about, better roads can be built by proper machinery, and a more extensive road program undertaken throughout the entire new district without any increase in taxes collected from the unit as a whole. Places of low assessment in any municipality are being subsidized by grants from the department of public works so that it is not altogether true that good sections of a municipality will have to carry the load for poorer sections. These road grants enable the municipality to spread roadwork out evenly where it is required.

It is our conviction that under the enlarged municipal unit set-up all the past services that have been given by the small municipalities can be expanded and the people provided with increased services for less money. Only a substantial increase in local social services demanded by the people of the area would cause an increase in the mill rate, and that is a matter which will be in their own hands.

ANOTHER ADVANTAGE

Another advantage that has been brought to our notice in the few units which already have been enlarged is that the secretary-treasurers for the first time can devote their full time to their official duties. The district having been enlarged, the taxpayers are no longer travelling to pay their taxes, and the work of the office has been reduced to a minimum. In the past our farmers have always been compelled to pay taxes by a visit to their municipal offices. The enlargement of the municipalities seems to have removed the necessity for this with the result that the secretary-treasurers now are finding sufficient time to take other services to the farmer such as his application for wheat acreage reduction bonuses and other similar conveniences.

Besides the benefits to be gained from the increased efficiency at the administrative end, we believe that the time has arrived when our farmers can expect more of their municipal services brought almost to their door in the same way that merchandise of various kinds is taken to the buyer. The trend is toward that in the future.

SEEK CO-ORDINATION

The goal towards which we are working is the co-ordination of enlarged municipal and school units. Ultimately we would like to see each of these served by a health unit and a district agriculturist and finally all of these re-organized units should be provided with a provincial government office in the nature of a treasury branch equipped not only to enable the people to make use of their own credit resources, but to act as a branch office for the various provincial government departments. In this way public services will be decentralized throughout the province and the farmer will be able to obtain speedy, personal attention on many matters which, at present, he is obliged to deal with by correspondence.

From what I have said you will realize that in the re-organization of municipalities which is proceeding at the present time, your government is working steadily towards establishing a province-wide co-ordinated system, on the recognized and proven British principle, and to systematically transfer to local governments an increasing measure of autonomy, until we achieve the goal of ensuring that the people obtain the maximum services with the greatest possible measure of decentralization.

So far from the large municipal unit representing a policy of centralization of authority, it is the foundation for providing greater decentralization.

There is another matter of interest to every farmer that I would like to explain briefly tonight and that is the function of the department of municipal affairs in regard to tax recovery.

During the pre-war depression period many farmers were unable to pay taxes on their land—not through any fault of their own, but simply because they were the victims of an iniquitous financial system which made it impossible for them to get a fair price for their products. Not only were they unable to pay their taxes—but they could not pay their mortgage debts or in some cases even store bills.

Generally speaking the municipalities were generous in their attitude to farmers who had accumulated tax arrears. But the mortgage companies, on the contrary, were usually harsh and instituted wholesale foreclosures. Their actions were curbed during the most critical years by provincial debt legislation. During this time many of these institutions did not take steps to protect their mortgages by paying the taxes which were due and thereby maintaining their equity in the land.

In order to assist the farmer whose taxes are in arrears, the government has arranged for a system of tax consolidation which enables him to consolidate his unpaid taxes for a reduced amount to be paid off gradually.

Having schemed against and fought provincial debt legislation until they succeeded in rendering it inoperative, the mortgage companies who sacrificed their equities by refusing to pay the overdue taxes during the depression years, now find that they are thwarted from foreclosing on those farms. In other words they have surrendered their right to title by their own action.

GET BENEFITS

Now in some instances they are asking the government to allow them the privileges of tax consolidation, so that they can get the benefits of a measure designed specifically to help our farmers to keep their farms.

I want to make it quite clear that your government intends to see to it that tax consolidation is used only for the purpose for which it was intended, namely to assist the resident farmer in liquidating his past tax obligations and retaining the title to his farm.

In this connection I should stress the fact that your government has done away with the old concept that tax sale and tax recovery proceedings meant dispossessing the farmer and putting him off the land. The policy of the government is, and will continue to be, as long as we are in office, to use the control of tax recovery proceedings vested in the government to keep our farmers on the land instead of putting them off.

I have been able to do no more than give you some of the highlights in regard to the work of our department of municipal affairs. Possibly there are some points not covered that you would like on which you may want information in that case I hope you will not hesitate to write for it.

Alberta, B.C. Trade Talks Are Proposed

CALGARY, Aug. 31.—(CP)—A resolution calling for a joint advisory committee, made up of representatives of the Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster boards of trades, which will meet to discuss Alberta-British Columbia trade problems, was read to members of the Calgary board of trade yesterday, by S. S. McKeen, president of the Vancouver board, and head of a delegation of coast board of trade members on a goodwill tour.

The British Columbia delegation, which arrived in Calgary Sunday evening, has visited the Peace River country and travelled over part of the Alaska Highway, going as far north as Fort St. John, B.C.

CONFERRED IN CITY

During the past week they met with the Edmonton chamber of commerce, and Saturday a committee which had been set up with representatives of the two boards and the Edmonton chamber formulated the resolution read at Calgary.

S. S. McKeen, in an address following the luncheon, stated the trip was for "strictly business" purposes, with the primary object to meet business men of Alberta in informal conferences and also to see the development which has taken place in the province.

"It is obvious why Alberta and British Columbia should work together," said Mr. McKeen, and pointed to the success of the British Columbia fight, some years ago, for lower freight rates, and which Alberta supported. This resulted in a vast movement of Alberta wheat to the coast, he stated.

"The East is too far away to appreciate our situation," he stated. "While Alberta and British Columbia both have many problems in common and are complementary to each other."

Edmonton Boy Falls Off Train Near Red Deer

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

RED DEER, Aug. 31.—Six year old Louie Delane, son of Sgt. G. H. Delane and Mrs. Delane, of 8125 111 street, Edmonton, is resting in the Red Deer Municipal hospital after a miraculous escape from death on Saturday afternoon.

The lad was with his aunt, Mrs. A. Eccleston, Edmonton, Saturday on his way to Calgary for the week when he fell from a moving C.P.R. passenger train between Blackfalds and Red Deer. Mrs. Eccleston, who is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Delane, had been visiting the Delanes in Edmonton. The boy was missing when the train pulled into the Red Deer station about 3:30 p.m. and a thorough search of the train failed to find him. The search then moved north with the operator at the north junction reporting no sign of the lad in the yards there. The investigator went north on a speeder and found young Delane about two miles south of Blackfalds.

UNCONSCIOUS

The boy had apparently been knocked unconscious by the fall and was later noticed crying by the tracks by a farmer in a nearby field. The farmer went over to the boy and was going to drive him into Red Deer in his car when the speeder arrived. Louie was taken to Red Deer and to the Red Deer municipal hospital. In addition to quite a shaking up he received a fractured right arm and shoulder.

Sergt. Delane, who is a member of the 2nd (Reserve) Battalion Edmonton Fusiliers, received word of his son's mishap Saturday evening and came down to Red Deer on the early morning train Sunday. It is probable that he will take the boy back to Edmonton in a few days.

Lad Saves Pennies To Aid War Effort

Young Canadians of all ages are doing their bit for the war effort by saving pennies, by collecting scrap and by doing any number of small yet vital tasks to help the country's progress to victory. Four-year-old Allin Ernest Spracklin, son of Sapper Ernest Spracklin, R.C.E., and Mrs. Spracklin, of Edmonton, is such a patriotic young Canadian.

For months Allin has been saving his pennies and sacrificing the pleasures brought by an all-day sucker or some candy, and Monday he became the proud owner of a $5 war-savings certificate. Allin has faithfully gathered together his pennies entrusting them to his great-grandmother, Mrs. Lucretia Spracklin.

Sapper Spracklin, the boy's father, has been overseas for two years. It is Allin's firm belief that every penny he saves brings his father that much closer to home.

Horse, Buggy Rides Banned by Nazis

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Pleasure driving is forbidden in Germany, too. Pleasure driving by horse and buggy, that is. The Nazi agency, D.N.B., said today the ministry of transport has forbidden pleasure trips in horse-drawn vehicles, adding: "Drivers, horses and vehicles thus becoming available can be directed to other work of importance to the war effort."

Seek to Postpone Ceiling on Apples Until January 1st

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Members of the apple advisory committee of the Canadian Horticultural Council, following a recent conference in Ottawa, reported yesterday they are agreed in their recommendation to Donald Gordon, chairman of the Prices Board, that there should be no apple price ceiling imposed before Jan. 1. Mr. Gordon is away on holidays and final decision awaits his return.

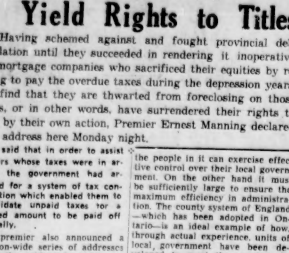

M. M. Robinson, director of the Ontario food distribution council, said, "the ceiling, when imposed, will apply to the storage crop of which there will be known quantities."
